Aggie Players Set Comedy Production Here May 10-11

The Aggie Players are readying a "fun show" for the Guion Hall stage May 10-11 with the melodrama "He Done Her Wrong, or 'Wedded But No Wife," as the central feature. Twelve entre-acts will complete entertainment, Director C. K. Esten said.

The scene will be the main street of a western town in the 1890's, with the "great drama" staged as a medicine show.

Esten announced the following cast: Adrienne Stout as Hyacinth Haven; Charlene Ragsdale, Mrs. Octavia Moneycracker; Sharon Prisk, Alvina Moneycracker; Lynn Emle, Linette Darewood; Bob Stark, Fleetwood Dashaway; and Bob Hipp in the role of Fitzjohn Oliphant.

The lights crew includes Corkey Couvillon and Kipp Blair. Handling the sets are Charles Hearn, Bob Boyd, Mike McChesney and Doug Ogilvie. Nancy Bailey is the script girl and Eugene Byrd and Ron Hunter direct publicity.

Banquet Tickets Ready

All members of the Class of '63 who will graduate in May, this summer or next February have been asked to pick up their free tickets to the Senior Class Banquet at the Association of Former Students' office in the Memorial Student Center by Thursday noon.

SAYS DALLAS EXECUTIVE

Simplifying Tools Need Of Business

The business world in this era of rapidly advancing science and technology vitally needs "simplifying tools" for management purposes, an aerospace firm executive vice president told accountants here Tuesday.

Clyde Skeen of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., Dallas, cited the need and said the answers "must come largely from application of the philosophy and methodology of science itself."

Skeen spoke at the banquet of the 16th annual Accounting Conference held this week

Other conference speakers came from industry, accounting firms and the academic world.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. Controller J. O. Edwards, in speaking on "Motivating Executive Action," said true executives do not require motivation—they already have plenty.

"The classic balancing of debits and credits and the once-a-year operating statements, although effective for our fathers, is now woefully inadequate," Skeen said. "... the rapidity with which great changes are occurring — changes which stem from the tremendous acceleration of technological progress in recent years," was cited by Skeen.

The Ling-Temco-Vought executive has been in the aviation or aerospace industry field since graduating from college in 1940. In 1954, Life magazine selected Skeen as one of the nation's outstanding young men likely to make industrial news.

Teacher Association Prexy To Visit Campus Thursday

Texas State Teachers Association President C. O. Chandler will visit the campus Thursday, Graduate Education Club President L. Ray Killion announced Wednesday.

Chandler is superintendent of schools at Victoria and a veteran leader in Texas education.

Interested persons have been invited to hear the TSTA president speak at 4 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Assembly Room on the topic "The Teachers We Need for Quality Education in the Public Schools."

Student preparing for careers in education and Victoria High School graduates now attending A&M will be special guests of the Graduate Education Club for a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, Killion said. The reception is scheduled at 3:15 p.m.

Chandler is described as one of the originators of Public Law 874, which provides for federal assistance in defense-area schools. He has served as a member of state and national conferences on education and served seven years as chairman of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

Proficiency Exam Developed By Prof

An objective type test to help determine the English usage proficiency of advanced students has been developed by Dr. Donald G. Barker, an associate professor in the Department of Education and Psychology.

Students studying in the School of Arts and Sciences are required to demonstrate proficiency in the use of written English as a graduation requirement.

The Department of Education and Psychology has used a commercially available test and a short composition by the student.

The new 30-minute objective test developed by Barker is the product of research supported by the college's Fund for Organized Research.

"There is no perfect relationship between an objective type test and a student's proficiency in English, so the student still must write a short composition," Barker said.

"The new test is a valuable aid in determining a student's proficiency in English," Dr. Paul R. Hensarling said. He heads the Department of Education and Psychology.

The new test is designed to measure a student's proficiency in spelling, effectiveness of expression, usage and punctuation.

"Hundreds" of persons were involved in preparing the test. Tentative sections were administered to students and the results compared with grades made by the students in certain English classes, Barker said.
