Yankees take Rangers, 8-

Barfield gets three-run homer; Bohannon strugg

NEW YORK (AP) – Jesse Barfield, who's had an ugly April, helped the New York Yankees win an ugly game with a big home run.

Barfield hit a three-run homer and drove in four runs Monday night as the Yankees beat the Texas Rangers 8-7 for their fifth win in six games.

Barfield singled in a run in the first off Brian Bohanon and homered in the fifth off Barry Manuel. He has five hits in 17 at-bats following an 0-for-26 slide.

"I've been feeling good for the last four, five games, starting to hit the ball hard," Barfield said.

The score was tied 3-3 in the fifth inning when Barfield hit his first home run in 60 at-bats since last July 2. He was leading the Yankees with 17 home runs last July before a season-ending foot injury.

"I've had bad starts in April before and gone on to have fine seasons," said Barfield, who raised his average to .143.

Still, Barfield's homer was not enough. Roberto Kelly also homered and Kevin Maas broke a 7-all tie in the seventh with a bloop single.

"It's kind of strange to come out of a game 8-7 and feel you HELD them to seven runs," Yankees manager Buck Showalter said.

Texas had taken a 7-6 lead with four runs in the top of the seventh on pinch-hitter Dean Palmer's two-run homer off Lee Guetterman and Ivan Rodriguez's two-run single off winner John Habyan (1-0).

Kelly led off the bottom of the inning against Terry Mathews (1-2) with his first home run of the season. Mel Hall doubled, took third on a wild pitch and scored one out later on Maas' pinch- opposite-field bloop down the field line with the outfielders ed over to right.

"He got the ball down away from me," Maas said. was trying to do was get the in the air."

Steve Farr relieved Howe and got the last out for fourth save as the Yankees Texas to its fifth loss in games. New York outhit Rangers 15-13.

Rafael Palmeiro's sacrifice gave Texas the lead in the first the Yankees immediately Bohanon, who got just one and three runs and four hits cluding Kelly's RBI double run-scoring singles by Barf and Randy Velarde.

It was the second straight in which Bohanon failed to get of the first. He got just one against Detroit and allowed runs and four hits.

"I have no explanation," hanon said. "I thought I had location. I thought I made pitches. You could say I'm frustrated."

Texas manager Bobby Valentine felt the same way.

"His location was pretty It was right down the middle Valentine said. "And it didn't very fast, either."

Todd Burns, purchased in the day from Class AAA homa City, took over and allow two runs and four hits in four nings.

"I got in here with us sitting in the first inning," Burns, who had been scheduled start for the 89ers. "I was dressed and they told me down and start throwing. I had get some pants and some went to the bathroom, went the dugout, down to the bullp warmed up and came in game."

Texas tied the score in the on Palmeiro's RBI groundout Ruben Sierra's run-scoring sing

Detmer picked in 9th round

May 7-9. "I look forward to working with him."

BYU coach LaVell Edwards said the Packers represent an excellent opportunity.

"It's a great spot for him to go in combination with his style of play and what Mike Holmgren will bring there," Edwards said.

Waiting out the draft was frustrating, and Detmer said he couldn't help dwelling on critics' claims that at 6-foot, 185 pounds, he's too small for the NFL.

"I heard everything from the fourth to the eighth round, then that went by," he said in a telephone interview from his parents' Mission, Texas, home.

"I'm sure that was a major concern, my size and durability," added Detmer, who had both of his shoulders dislocated during the 1990 Holiday Bowl against Texas A&M.

Off-season surgery healed throwing shoulder and therapy cured his left shoulder. Last season he again led BYU to the Western Athletic Conference championship.

"My shoulders are fine, good," Detmer said. "I have had any problems with them."

Edwards is certain Detmer do well in the pros.

"The ninth round pick him is the greatest deal since Brink's robbery," he said. "I realize it's another major step up, the bottom line is the guy play."

Had he not been chosen in NFL draft, Detmer said he would have pursued feelers from Canadian Football League.

"But we've set that on the burner," he said. "I'm just thinking of one league right now.

"I was nervous before, waiting. But now I guess it's time get really nervous. I'm ready that next challenge."

-tered whether or not you win.

"Be a man. Don't ever be satisfied with losing, but be a man about it." I never was – until now.

It's really amazing how certain things can hit you like a bolt of lightning.

People never really listen to their parents. Everything they say goes in one ear and out the other. But, it seems there comes a time in everyone's life when they have that realization that their parents could have been right.

For me, I've always known my mom was right about almost everything. But with my dad, things were a little different.

But with spring here, I was having one of those memories of sports gone by, and I finally understood what he was talking about during those May evenings. When that happens, you really want to pick up the phone and let that person know that you finally figured out what they were talking about.

But in some cases, that realization comes a little too late in life, and they are no longer there. I miss you dad and thanks for everything. I finally understand why I couldn't give up on those grounders.
