Carved Clock At Odd Moments.

In answer to numerous enquiries, I will give a brief account of the large cathedral-shaped clock on exhibition at Leigh's Confectionery. It was built by a Bohemian farmer who lives about ten miles from Angleton, Texas.
This man is a bachelor and has amused himself at odd moments by carving the parts of the clock, which he started soon after his arrival in America, some twelve or fifteen years ago.
The clock itself is a standard eight day clock. The other parts were collected at odd times.
