THE BATTALION, COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS.

Who was the first lieutenant who told his company to march straight up? Well, I guess it was the "ice cream blonde."

Mr. Robert Dinwiddie returned from the World's fair last week and says he had a nice time.

The first class would be much obliged to Mr. Dan C. if he would explain to them why he is so nervous when they are together in the chemistry laboratory.

gether in the chemistry laboratory. Dan C.—"Gosh! Do you people suppose I am tired of living? Not by a sight! I am afraid you would smother me if you got half a chance with NH* or some such stuff. Some of you have made several unsuccessful attempts at it already.

College Dramatic Club.

On Wednesday night, October 18th, there assembled in one of the society halls, for the purpose of organizing a college dramatic club, thirty of the most talented young men of the college. The meeting was called to order and the popular young professor, W. B. Philpott, unanimously chosen as general manager and F. R. Ross as secretary and treasurer. The following are the names of the members enrolled: W. B. Philpott, general manager; F. R. Ross, secretary and treasurer; G. Abbot, Anglin, Bruce, A. Bittle, P. Bittle, Cook, Cohn, Dinwiddie, Dazey, Descheaux, B. Fitzgerald, Gilbert, Groos, F. Houston, Hollack, Jordan, Law, F. Martin, McMillan, H. McDonald, Mills, Mathews, T. Myer, Pittuck, Polk, Ward and Watkins. The club decided to present a play of some kind the latter part of November. This is one feature of the college that has long been lacking and now that it is supplied, we, with the co-operation of the ladies, professors and the corps, will endeavor to make it a credit to the club as well as the college.

The Fat Men's Club.

СLUB ROOM, Oct. 20, '93.

The club met with President Cushing in the chair. The roll was called and showed a good attendance. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted, after which President Cushing arose and in a few well chosen words mentioned the advantages that were deriving from the organization known as "The Fat Men's Club." President Cushing is an orator of no little ability and will certainly distinguish himself when he goes into the world to shift for himself. Mr. Houston then entertained the club by a declamation entitled, "Casy at the Bot." A motion was then made and carried that we accept as members no one who measures less than 36 inches around the waist. The names of Messrs. Cook, Burney, Barnett and Blount S., were put before the club as candidates for membership. They were elected. On motion the club adjourned to meet next Friday night. DAN CUSHING, Pres.

I. S. GOLDBERG, Sec.

B. L. Club.

Those members of the corps who were eligible to belong to a B. L. C., recognizing the interest some of their classmates had taken in a club known as the F. M. C., decided to accelerate with the times and organize a club suggestive of their physical deformity. Accordingly they met one night in room 23 Pfeuffer hall and at once proceeded into election of officers, and it was unanimously decided that 'the one whose lower limbs conformed most perfectly to the appearance of an elipse was to be chosen president and so on down. Result: George Benjamin Oglesby, president; Felix Mosay Roberts, vice president; Frank B. Lewis, secretary and treasurer; Wm. Eichelberger, corresponding secretary; Joseph Fullbend Gilbert, sergeant at arms; Charles Halfbend Cook, assistant sergeant at arms; Aler Hyldebhrandt, librarian; Photo Ellis, assistant librarian. Meeting* adjourned to meet in Cadet Ellis' room on 32nd ult. R. S. V. P.

We have received Volume 1, number 1 of THE BATTALLION, a neat little paper published by the students of the Agrscultural and Mechanical College of Texas.—Jefferson Jimplecute.
