

mas speeches given preference. Apply to Gae Abbott.

How does Att smoke cigarettes?

And Dinwiddie delights in dancing.

Mr. Orr, of Sandy Point, visited his son Pringle last week.

Ed Steadman, our popular ex-cadet, visited his old friends last week.

Terry sho' loves candy. He makes it himself, so the guard list says.

Miss Duskie Walker was a guest of Mrs. Ross last Saturday and Sunday.

On account of rain and cold weather visitors have been few since our last issue.

Cadet Ellis commenced taking daily antereveille exercises Monday, Nov. 20th.

McMillan has had hard luck lately, a broken guitar, broke a fiddle bow, and is heart broken.

Abe Gross has not been in good health at all, since his little pet got away. Pair busted heap.

Ask Smither where charcoal is found. He told a professor that it was found in the ground.

Miss Shanks, of Virginia, has been visiting the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bittle for the past two weeks.

The citizens of Greece would like to have a change made in their costumes before going further north.

Mr. Jack Roberts accompanied by Miss Kate Parker, paid the College a flying visit last Wednesday.

Misses Bessie Ross and Rita Sbisca returned from school last Saturday to spend Thanksgiving with their parents.

Mrs. B. C. Morse, accompanied by her sister, returned from Michigan last month where she has been visiting her parents.

If any of the professors have locals, personals or the like they wish published, we would be glad if they would hand same in at the Treasurer's office.

During the weeks which the Dramatic Club rehearsed to present the play "Ingomar" to the public, there were quite a number of Bryan's most popular young ladies and gentlemen out to visit us. Among the ladies who took part in the play and were guests of President and Mrs. L. S. Ross most of the week, were Misses May Webb, M. Stella Shepard and Lessie McConnico.

We were pleased to have a visit from our friend and a graduate H. A. Pearson on the 22nd ult. That's right boys, stop off whenever you can; we are always pleased to have you with us.

"Battalion attention! I am requested to announce that all those who wish to "dissipate" in a game of foot ball will please make their appearance on the campus at 3 o'clock." The above is quoted from the words of the Capt. of D. Co. while in charge of Battalion.

One of the leading members of the Dramatic Club wrote his father that he was a member of the "College Grammatic Club," and told the manager that the reason he did not talk so loud was that he did not care to "sprain his voice."

Miss May Webb, assisted by the young ladies of Bryan, entertained a party of her cadet friends at her home one evening last month. The features of the occasion were delightful music, love-making, and in fact, all delightful forms of pleasure. The bright smiles and winning ways of the hostess made the boys feel more than at home, and a happy and enjoyable occasion was the necessary result. Refreshments were served and—er—well served too. The hospitality of the young ladies is greatly appreciated by the College boys, and in after life we can look back to these, our happiest and brightest days. Those present were: Misses May Webb, Alma Sheets, Duskie Walker, Lessie McConnico, Ada Lee Polk, Fannie and Marie McQueen, Messrs. Houston, Gilbert, Pittuck, Ross F., Bittle A., Dazey, Abbott G., Howell and Bruce.

A Dream.

Come to my arm, my darling.

Oh! God, is it thus

That I have lost thee, forever?

Great Scott! it makes me cuss.