

certaining that their employment is honorable. "All that we have to do is to get up and get and you will make a success of life; when you reach a mountain base, don't stop there, but

S. H. SIMPSON, B. S. in C. E., of Columbus, Texas, entered college in September, 1897. Secretary Senior Class. Graduated as First Lieutenant, Co. "D."

WM. J. WALDEN, B. S. in Agr., of Dickinson, Texas, entered college September, 1897. President Y. M. C. A.; vice-president Austin Literary Society and Senior Class. Graduated with first honors and as Captain of Co. "D."

climb to the top," said the Governor.

"What is it that makes a man strong and courageous? It is misfortune.

Success is attained by a determination that, come what will, we shall do a man's duty and play a man's part in this life."

The Governor adverted to the fact that he was a Director of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, but had not until last Commencement visited the institution for many years. He stated that he had been, is and will be a friend of the College. His last injunction to the students was: "Set your mark high and then turn neither to the right nor to the left."

A. WINKLER, B. S. in Agr., of The Grove, Texas, entered college in September, 1897. President of the Austin Literary Society. Editor Exchange Department of the "Battalion." Graduated as Second Lieutenant, Co. "D."

As a farewell to the young men who were about to graduate from these College walls, President Foster said, in substance: "Heretofore you have dealt with a President with power to exercise clemency and show mercy. When you made mistakes and were charged with demerits he could erase them from the pages of your record, but in that world without into the activities of which you are about to enter your mistakes and errors will be ineffacable and will stand forever on the pages of your history, therefore be careful in