

A. & M. LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP TO LONGHORNS

pass which gave them the ball on the Aggies one yard line. The next play resulted in a touchdown for Texas. Goal was kicked, making the score Texas 7, Aggies 3. The remainder of the quarter was played between the Aggies 50 and 30 yard line, and found the Farmers fighting the heavier Texas team to a standstill. Elam did not star as was expected but played a good game at quarter. On the first play of the game Pierce was taken from the field injured and was not able to return to the fray; Johnnie's loss was felt by the Aggies but Anglin who replaced him played his best game at center. It is hard for Johnnie that he should lose his last chance to play against State so early in the game but the corps knows that the play may have been different had he stayed. They are grieved that such should have been dealt him by fate. Weir, who replaced Martin played a good game the short time that he was in. Martin played a good game and his defensive play was above par at all times. Smith who replaced Gouger during the latter part of the game, soon showed Texas that he was better than anything at end that they could possibly have.

We lost the game and with it lost the Southwestern Championship but one thing we have not lost is the love and admiration that we carry in our hearts for every man of our football team. Were it possible we would like to take a greater portion of the sting of defeat but such cannot be possible so all we can do is forget as soon as possible and turn our eyes toward another championship basket ball club, but not forgetting Texas in 1921.

We were defeated but not conquered. We are proud of our team and the fight they showed, not conceding an inch of ground uncontested. Our line, though out-weighted, fought like lions from one end to the other. There are seven men who played their last game Thanksgiving and are not likely to don the moiskins again.

ing no quarters and asking that the same compliment be payed him, he has fought his way to the first team by pure old time FIGHT. Marvin started his football career here in '17, and then went to the service. While in the "Treat Them Rough" tanks he played on the Inter-Battalion team. He came back here with the intention of making the team and men, he has accomplished that ambition. His opponents will never forget him, once they have had the pleasure of exchanging tactics with him. Anglin will be back next year and we look forward for even a better record then, than he has made this year.

DIETRICH

The surprise of the season was offered by Dietrich, from last year's all-Company team. Nobody knew him until this season; but do they know him now? Just ask some of our opponents who gave them those sore ribs, and you'll know. If Dietrich improves next year at the same rate he has been improving this year, there won't be a man in the southwest better than he.

west has yet done. Hard-hitting and faster than a good many football players in the south it was Bob that got down under the punts and hit opposing men as if the Woolworth Building had fallen on them. Bob has proved to the State that the A. & M. line was impregnable. Last year was the first year that Bob had a chance at a letter and he helped to make the '19 Champs what they were. He has played a great game this year and we are glad that he will be with us the following season when he will have the chance of reeking revenge for this year.

WEIR

An Aggie back that has speed galore. He is a fast aggressive player and is one man that has to be watched by the opposing team. He made his first appearance in an A. & M. uniform back in S. A. T. C. days and has tasted defeat at the hands of Varsity before. Heinne is originally an end, but has been shifted to the halfback position because of his speed and broken field running. There is no faster man in the State than Heinne and we predict that next year he will be the sensation of the season.

SMITH

Another Aggie who is playing his first season. He has developed into an excellent end this season and when playing the game he is sure of his man. He is fast and is always down under punts and rarely ever misses his tackle. We are glad that we are not going to lose Smith this year for we are going to need him next season and we are predicting for him a glorious future as an end.

WILSON

Wilson is playing his first year with the Aggies. He came to us last year after he had played the season with Wesley College which had the best junior college team in the southwest. Wilson has dealt misery to the opponents' interference and has played one of the most consistent games at end in the State. He will be with us next year and we are predicting great things for him in the football world. He is a consistent worker and never hesitates when there is hard work ahead.

MURRAH

Cap is our old standby; if the team loses its head and goes to pieces, Cap is on the job just the same. When our opponents made their plans for attack, they never even considered a play over Murrah, as they knew, that it would be a hopeless task. Cap made his first appearance during the S. A. T. C. regime, and was on that unfortunate team that tasted defeat from the hands of the University. Last year he got even with them, and this year again made them feel who they were running up against.

ANGLIN

Here is a man that should be an example for the men that played on the reserves. Marvin rose from that crew, to be one of the most terrific and aggressive men on the line. Giv-

CARRUTHERS

One of the main stays of the line is our Bob. To go over Bob is something that no man in the south-

MORRIS

When Knickerbocker was declared ineligible, Morris was given his chance and well did he grasp it. He has been the source of much pride to Aggie supporters. Fighting with every ounce of his strength and displaying much ability as a football tactician. His goals never fail. Morris will be one of the strongest men for the '21 season.

A AND M. RESERVES
Of all the men who go out for football each year, those who are less praised and unsung are the reserves. Those who fail to make the first team and fight on are really men. Lacking sufficient experience or finished football qualities and having courage to face the terrific onslaught of the Varsity, day after day, training as hard as the first string and winning none of its honors is the acid test of loyalty and regard for this institution. Of such material is the reserved team made. With no hopes for honors and letters these men have fought desperately to make the Varsity the best. They have not made the team this year but the majority of them will be back next year.

for the greater glory of old A. & M. on the football field. Of these 24 men, only three failed to make the end of the season. Askey, an ineligible letter man left on account of sickness. Channing and Furman were injured in the Camp Travis game and kept out for the rest of the season.

Among those who showed up well, and who have a good chance for the Varsity next year, should they show the same stuff then, are Mitchell, punter; Gill who has a very good passing arm; Fargason in the backfield as well as Johnson who seems to have what is known as a football soul. Beckum from Dexton Normal and Cunningham formerly from T. C. U. and a letter man there, promise great things for next year.

Coach Averson said when asked about his team: "It was a pleasure to work with such men, showing the old fighting spirit and a willingness to learn. Should they show the same pep and willingness next year, no doubt a great number of men from this team will make the Varsity on their football merit."

The men who composed the freshman squad were:
Ends — Evans, Lusher, Tom, Adams, Smyth.
Tackles — Cunningham, Beckum, Steffins, O'Neal.
Center — Channing, Whitehouse.
Guards — Maufrias, Martin, Lawson, Cowan, Abrams.
Quarter — Askey, Furman, Hardy.
Halves — Mitchell, Johnson, Gill, McWhorter.
Fullbacks — Dickman, Fargason, Marshall.

666 breaks a cold quicker than any remedy we know.

HAVE MERCY!

A newly married "Bachelor," upon returning to the Bachelor Club for a visit was telling of his happy matrimonial experience. "I want to tell you about a most awful fright I got at church on my wedding day." "You needn't," remarked the bachelor, "we have already seen her."

666 quickly relieves a cold.

FRESHMAN SQUAD

At the first of the season, 87 men reported to Coach Averson for the freshman squad. Before the first game, the squad was cut down to the best men out of the bunch and only 24 were left. Out of these, about three could have made the first squad had freshmen and ineligibles been able to play. The freshman team was the strongest of any college in the State. They were undefeated in the five games they played with teams outside of the Varsity squad. They had only been together for a few days when they buckled the Varsity and got the small end of a 61-9 score. However the fish deserve mention for the good work they did and for the preparation they are making to get on the first varsity next year. There will be about seven positions vacant next fall and it is up to the real men of the freshman squad to
