

Faculty Will Go on Ten Percent Plan

Other Local Residents Asked To Join Campaign

It was announced by Dean Bolton today that employees of all college agencies and members of the college faculty are going on the 10 per cent basis, by which they will pledge 10 per cent of their incomes to the purchase of war bonds and stamps. In order to make this campaign a complete success persons living in the vicinity of College Station are also asked to cooperate by buying as many war bonds and stamps as they possibly can.

At a meeting of the college committee yesterday afternoon it was decided that pledges would be sent out to all of the college personnel. Frank Schofield, of Austin, State Administrator of War Bond Sales, spoke at the meeting and urged that all pledges be fulfilled. There are many who have already pledged 10 per cent of their incomes to the purchase of war bonds and stamps and so far this group has exceeded its quota every month.

Regarding this campaign on the sale of war bonds and stamps, Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the college, made the following statement:

"Our government has called on every employed person in the United States to pledge 10 per cent of his income to the purchase of war bonds and stamps. This is not a gift; it is a loan to be repaid with interest in ten years. This indeed is a small price to pay for the maintenance of our liberty and the perpetuation of our American way of life.

"We are in the critical time of our history—we must in months build the machines of war that our enemies have had years to build—we must equip and maintain an army that in a democracy is of stupendous size. To do these things sacrifice on the part of each of us is a national necessity. Within the next few days members of Campus War Bond Committee will call on each member of the staff concerning his pledge and I know that the employees of the college will respond to this call as they have always responded to requests of this nature. I am confident that we shall exceed the 10 per cent request."

Ranger Will Show Movies For Air Wardens Tomorrow

Harry Boyer, of the commandant's office, has announced that Texas Ranger W. E. Naylor will show a series of moving pictures in the Chemistry Lecture Room at 7:30 Friday evening and that all air raid wardens are urgently requested to attend.

The pictures deal with all methods of civilian protection and are being circulated in the state by Homer Garrison, director of public safety for Texas.

They have been shown at the War Department Civilian Protection school at the college and Boyer was so impressed with the lesson they give that he made arrangements with Garrison for Naylor to bring them back for the benefit and training of all civilian defense workers.

The show will be open to the general public but Boyer is very anxious that the wardens and other workers attend. There is no admission charge, he said.

A&M Receives 150 Extra Enlistments In Reserve Corps

Cadets of Selective Service Age Will Be Shown First Preference

It is stated in a letter from the Corps Area, dated July 15, 1942, that 150 enlistments to be made in Enlisted Reserve Corps are to be allotted to A. & M. Only students who are of draft age and are being pushed by their respective draft boards for enlistment are eligible for this opportunity to get a contract. The selection of men to be enlisted will be made by the senior instructors of the units concerned and will be students chosen for leadership, character and class standing.

Selections will be confined to the sophomore class and to students who will undoubtedly be selected for advanced course contracts the next school year.

When a student is definitely chosen for enlistment, he will be sent to the Sergeant Major's office to procure Form 63 for his physical examination to be made at the College hospital, after which the examination form will be returned to the senior instructor. If the student is satisfactory, he will be sent to the Recruiting Officer, Major Marshall, for the completion of all his records.

Allotments given the various units on the campus are as follows: Infantry 12, Field Artillery 13, Coast Artillery 8, Engineers 6, Cavalry 3, Chemical Warfare Service 3, Signal Corps 3, making a total of 48 allotments.

Queen of Name Bands

Blonde Bombshell to Rock Ags As Slab Opening Is Postponed

Once again war raises its ugly head to delay the grand opening of the new open air dance pavilion.

The Student Activities office announced yesterday that due to delay in getting the maroon pigment from Chicago, Illinois, to color the cement, the opening date has been postponed from August 1 to August 7. Any student who has invited a date down for the opening should write her at once and make the date for one week later.

Many delays in construction on the dance slab have caused a number of headaches. It looks like Hitler, Hirohito & Co. are determined that Aggie shall not dance under the stars, but the blame cannot be put on any authority having to do with the construction. The simple answer is war. Construction materials are scarce in the first place, and in the second place, the shipment of such materials resembles a herd of lazy turtles.

There is a silver lining in the situation, though. The week-end of August 7 promises to be a much livelier one than the cast-off weekend of August 1. Friday night will head the gala opening of the floor, with the Aggieband dishing out the melody, and Saturday night brings the corps dance with the Queen of the name bands, Ina Ray Hutton. So, instead of the mere opening dance as originally announced, there will be two nights, two dances, and two bands. (And two moons, maybe.)

Sbisa Hall will provide insurance against foul weather; in case of rain the Saturday night dance will be moved from the open air to Sbisa.

Miss Hutton's band organized this year made its debut at New York's famous Hotel Astor where it broke the season's record for dinner and supper diners. Ina Ray's all-male band succeeds her all-girl orchestra because "Although a girl band was easier to look at, the all-male band is easier to listen to." Today Ina Ray's outfit is rated by men like Tommy Dorsey as the band most likely to succeed in 1942.

Top female orchestra leader in the country, Ina Ray has chestnut hair and blue eyes, is 5 feet 3 inches tall, and weighs 108—unusual statistics. She dances and sings in addition to conducting the band. Her sense of rhythm was inherited from her mother, Marvel Ray, a professional pianist. "I have always loved rhythm. That is why it came so natural for me to lead a band. When the offer came to me, I rushed at the chance of doing what I liked best and what I felt I was best fitted for," says Miss Hutton.

Construction of New College-Bryan Hi-way System Is Underway

Work on the proposed extension of College Road and on the road connecting Highway 6 with the old highway has been started, according to George M. Garrett, district highway engineer. The extension will run from the Union Hill section to the campus and will connect with the Sulphur Springs Road.

Culverts are being installed and grading on the road connecting the old highway and Highway 6 will be started as soon as work on the culverts is completed, Garrett said. Work on this road will be completed before work on the extension is started.

Admission will be 50 cents per couple.

Cadets, sailors and marines with wives or dates, as well as all other residents of College Station have been extended an invitation by members of the club with the hope that everyone in the community may become better acquainted. These parties will provide an opportunity for opening new friendships and for bringing about a closer understanding between the various social groups which compose College Station, states Mrs. G. Byron Winstead, president of the club.

Funds secured from admission charges will be used to construct a system of sidewalks around the Consolidated school. Mrs. Winstead emphasized that this is to be a community affair and all revenues will be used for the betterment and beautification of the community.

First Order For Officer's Guide Sent Off Yesterday

Hanby Elected Senior Assistant Yell Leader

Wins Over Rafferty, Patterson, and Housewright for Post Vacated by O'Leary

At the Senior meeting last night in the Assembly Hall, Bob Hanby was elected to replace Ted O'Leary as Senior Assistant Yell Leader. Other candidates in the running for the office were Lee Housewright, Pat Patterson, and Ed Rafferty. Hanby will now assist Chuck Chalmers in leading the Corps at all yell practices.

Out of a total of 163 votes cast, Hanby received 88, Rafferty 47, Patterson 14, and Housewright 14. As can be readily seen by the few number of votes cast, there was an unusually poor turnout for the meeting and election.

There was no other business taken up at the meeting. Each candidate spoke briefly, and then the election was conducted by secret ballots.

Fish, Game Club Views U S Films

Two Kodachrome films loaned by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, showing national wildlife refuge pictures of birds were exhibited last night at a meeting of the Fish and Game Club on the campus. One, "The Birds of Woody Island," on a wildlife refuge in Montana, showed pelicans, cormorant, and terns at home during the nesting season. The other, "The Western Grebe," illustrated the mating antics of this largest of the grebe family.

Opportunities in wildlife work were discussed by Dr. Walter P. Taylor, Head of the Department of Fish and Game, and he reviewed the work of 50 graduates and undergraduates of the Department. Helmut K. Buechner, a graduate student now located in Kerr County, Texas, told of his work in studying the vegetation in association with game and nongame species, and stressed the significance of the relations between livestock and game. Othiel Erlund, acting president of the Fish and Game Club, was in the chair. Linton Robertson is program chairman for the present semester.

Texas Institute for Co-operatives to be Held Here Aug 10-12

The place of cooperative organizations in the war effort, and expected developments when peace comes, will furnish the main topics of discussion when the Texas Institute for Co-Operatives is presented here Aug. 10-12 by A. & M.

J. Wheeler Barger, head of the department of agricultural economics at the college, is serving as chairman of the institute. He has secured several national leaders in the co-op movement to make special addresses, among them Ezra Benson, executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Co-Operatives, and Dr. O. W. Herrmann, chief of the co-operative research and service division of the Farm Credit Administration.

Informal discussions of other cooperative problems will be held, and the Texas Federation of Co-Operatives will have its first annual meeting, with election of directors and mapping of a program scheduled.

All co-operative organizations in Texas, of whatever nature, are urged to send representatives to the institute, Barger said. The meeting will open at 9:30 a.m. August 10, and close at noon August 12.

No campus accommodations for visitors will be available, Barger said, but there is ample space in tourist courts adjoining the campus and in hotels at nearby Bryan.

City Commission Meets to Hear Data On Budget, Tax Rates

The budget is a major factor in determining the tax rate for the city.

Sidelights and Developments On Wanger and Aggie Movie

The story of an Aggie and how he lives is the basis of the motion picture to be produced by Walter

Wanger Studios in Hollywood. It will picture all the color and life to be found at A. & M. Without a doubt, T.S.C.W. will find a notable place in the story.

Norman Rielly Rain well known expert on military films and stories is the author; and is expected to arrive in College Station to fill in the remainder of his plot with Aggie tradition and background.

Three quarters of a million dollars is to be expended in the making. Aggie contributions to the agricultural and especially to the military status of the country are to be exemplified throughout the picture. With ex-Aggies having served in three wars and more than six holding the rank of Brigadier General, the college has a lot of background to offer Wanger.

As to how long the filming will take no one can say, but judging from Mr. Wanger's previous policy, he will not leave until it is as good as he can possibly make it. Before the shooting of the film starts as well as throughout its making, Wanger will consult with the college officials in the hopes of making the film as accurate as possible.

Wanger will attempt to capture on film the sixty-four years of service A. & M. has rendered to its country and state in such a way that all who see the picture will be able to grasp the significance.

Jubilee Singers Offer Town Hall Goers Three Types of Music

Three types of Negro music will be offered for the approval of the Town Hall audience Monday night when the Jackson Jubilee Singers present their program from the stage of Guion Hall. The concert is the third of the Town Hall attractions to appear on the current series of programs.

The concert will be made up of music suited to the Negroes voice and temperament. Negro music is divided roughly into three types. The first two, the jubilee and the plantation song, are characterized by the jubilation and the happiness of the plantation negro. The third type, the spiritual, expresses the prayer and hope of happiness of the Negro race.

The Jackson Jubilee singers originated with the late professor

R. G. Jackson of Western University, Kansas City, Kansas. It is made up entirely of negroes and is under the direction of V. S. Brown, pianist and second tenor for the group. The group's baritone, John Garth, III, is an accomplished musician, having played the leading role in the Broadway hit, "Porgy 'n Bess."

The group specializes in Negro music, leaving "white folks music," for the most part, alone. Songs of modern arrangement will also be included in the program. Also included will be selections in a humorous vein, as well as numbers by modern Negro composers and popular hits based on negro terms. In addition, Brown will be heard in one or more piano solos that represent the nature and background of his race.

On the Arabian Nights set at Universal Studios officials of the college who were in Hollywood conferring on the movie about A. & M. were photographed with some prominent cinema characters. From left to right are G. Byron Winstead, director of information for the college; Sabu, youthful actor from India; Harry Boyer of the Commandant's office; Maira Montez, movie actress; Mrs. Winstead, and Jon Hall, screen hero.
