Seed Planters Hold Field Day

The Annual Field Day for the Texas Planting Seed Association was held yesterday in Bryan and College Station.

Taking care of arrangements, including a beef barbecue dinner, was the president, Lee Elwood.

Technical French Instruction Offered

The second course in reading knowledge of French for Ph.D. candidates will be conducted privately by Dr. Edward M. Stack. The course is designed to impart the ability to read technical French, knowledge of which is requisite for the doctor's degree in any field.

Meetings will be held Monday and Thursday nights in the MSC, starting next Monday at 7:00 in the Senate Chamber.

Students with or without previous study of French may enroll by contacting Dr. Stack through the modern language department of the college.

Negro Firemen School Set For Prairie View In Fall

The first Negro Firemen's Training School in Texas is scheduled for October 4-19 at Prairie View A&M College, Prairie View.

Sponsored by the Texas Engineering Extension Service and Prairie View A&M, the school will offer complete training to firemen from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. Col. H. R. Brayton of TEES said in announcing plans for the school.

Brayton has directed the Annual Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M College for the past 24 years, helping it to grow from a small and virtually unknown function to its present size, where almost 1,000 firemen learn the latest and best techniques for conquering different types of fires, each year.

Use Same Plans

Under plans recently worked out with a five-man committee of Prairie View's administrative staff, the Negro Firemen's Training School will be held in the same manner at Prairie View as the older counter-part at College Station, using practically the same equipment and instruction.

Negro firemen will register October 4 and will be divided into small groups for intensive and personalized training and practice in handling the latest and best equipment on different types of fires. Instruction will be offered October 5-9 inclusive.

Outstanding Negro Instructors

They will live in the Prairie View dormitories and eat in the college cafeteria. Outstanding Negro instructors will join the five-man crew made up by Brayton and his four TEES field instructors who specialize in fire-fighting problems.

"We're hoping that it will be recognized through - out the South and Southwest," Brayton said. "Any way that we can help in cutting down fire loss—either life or property—is a real service, I think. "From past experience in conducting short courses at Prairie View, I feel certain this new school will be an outstanding one. Officials at Prairie View have been particularly helpful and cooperative in planning the new short course," he added.

Prairie View faculty members who helped plan the school include President E. B. Evans; Dean J. L. Brown, student activities and short courses; Dean C. L. Wilson, engineering; F. G. Fry, chief engineer, and A. A. Lee, superintendent of maintenance fire marshal.

Brayton's field instructors include James R. Dobson, Henry D. Smith, L. O. Bynum and A. J. Fogaley, all of College Station.

Bird Is Cat's Meow

Abilene—Two wildcat kittens and a mockingbird are keeping things busy around the A. Julian McDaniel home. The seven-week-old sisters are being raised by McDaniel, who got them from a brother in New Mexico after their mother was killed.

McDaniel says the mockingbird has taken to perching on a post in the backyard where the kittens are kept and imitating them to a yowl.

"I'm always rushing out to see what's the matter with the kittens and finding the mocker there," McDaniel complains.

Lanham-Womble Art in MSC Display

The third in the current series of one-man shows is now on display in the MSC display cases, Mrs. Emalita Terry, MSC Art Advisor and Instructor, has announced.

Scheduled to run until July 29, the series features the works of Billie Lanham and Bessie Womble.

Beginning with a showing of art produced by Hazel Naylor and Virginia Dobson, and followed by the exhibit featuring the works of B. Clark and Pat Boney, plans call for a continuation of the series until some artists' works have been shown, Mrs. Terry said.

Asks Large Tip

Dallas—Police are trying to find the latest candidate for "meanest thief"—a woman who invited a 55-year-old blind matron to her home for a meal of corned, greens and buttermilk, charged her guest 75 cents for the meatless fare, then stole $10 pension money from the sightless woman's purse.

Majors Drop To Fourth In Big State League

The Bryan Majors slipped to fourth place in the Big State League last night when Texarkana right fielder Roy Sanner homered in the top of the ninth inning with two mates aboard to lead the Bears to a 6-3 win.

Vic Stryka was the losing pitcher for Bryan, while Bear hurler Pat Scantlebury notched his 16th triumph. Stryka relieved Bill Hockenbury in the sixth with the bases loaded, but Bear third baseman Signaigo hit the first pitch into deep left field for a bases-clearing double.

Tuesday the Majors snapped a five-game losing streak with a 13-inning 3-2 victory over Wichita Falls to take the final game of the series. Both pitchers went the full game as Harry Young gave up seven hits in picking up the win, and losing pitcher Jim Hisner was touched for six bingles.

The Bryan Majors ends tonight in the at 8, while Lone town for Friday games to wind up stand.
