65 High Schools Represented

Journalism 'Shop' To Open Monday

Three hundred and forty-seven delegates from sixty-five high schools in forty-four cities of Texas will begin registering Sunday for the first annual High School Journalism Workshop, Aug. 10-14.

Delegates will be here from all over the state with the largest concentration of students and teachers from the Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth areas. One delegation will come from Broadus, Mont.

Presented by the Department of Journalism and the Department of Education and Psychology, the workshop is co-sponsored by the Texas Daily Newspaper Assn. and the Texas Press Assn.

Two sections are scheduled for the workshop which will open with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 10, and close with a luncheon and graduation exercises at 12:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 14.

One section, under the guidance of Mrs. Edith King of San Antonio College, will be concerned with school newspaper problems. The second section, which will be led by Dr. Otha Spencer of East Texas State College, will cover yearbook planning and production.

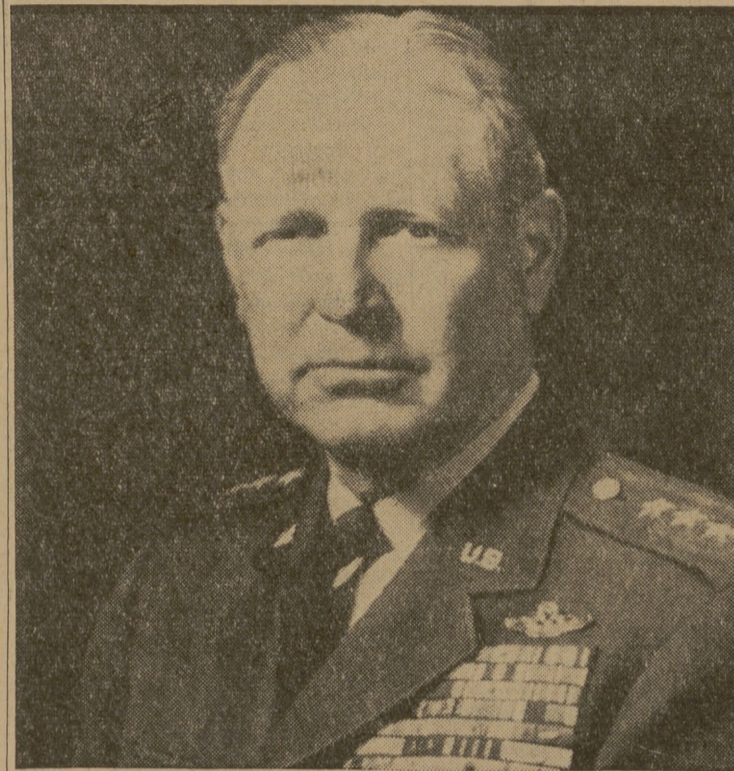

"This will be a concentrated course of instruction in fundamentals of high school journalistic work," Prof. Donald D. Burchard, head of the A&M Department of Journalism and director of the workshop, said.

Delegates will be incoming staff members of school newspapers and yearbooks, and their teachers.

Most of the students will be seniors.

Leading newspaper men will discuss their specialties and then confer with the students and teachers on ways to adapt these professional principles to the school field, Burchard explained.

Among the newspaper men who will participate in the workshop are Phil North, vice-president of the Fort Worth Star Telegram and president of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association; Murray Neal, city editor, Waco News-Tribune; Bill Rives, sports editor, Dallas Morning News; James Wagner, managing editor, Houston Press; Jack Donahue, managing editor, Post, and Betty Rose Cravens, women's editor, Houston Chronicle.

Gen. O. P. Weyland Retires After Thirty-Six Years Duty

Gen. O. P. (Opie) Weyland, Commanding Officer of the Tactical Air Command, one of the nation's top military officials and a product of A&M, retired last Friday, July 31, after 36 years of distinguished service to his country.

Gen. Weyland was the speaker for the commissioning exercises held here last June.

Born in Riverside, Cal., Jan. 27, 1902, Weyland, graduated from

A&M in 1923 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. In 1945 A&M conferred an honorary LL.D. upon its honored and distinguished former student.

Gen. Weyland was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Reserves in 1923 and was assigned to the 12th Observation Squadron.

In 1927 he became an instructor at the advanced flying school at Kelly Field where he served until 1931.

In 1937 he attended the Air Corps Tactical School at Maxwell Field, Ala. From 1939 to 1941 he was assistant to the chief of Aviation Division in the National Guard Bureau at Washington, D. C. He later served as commanding officer of the 16th Pursuit Group in the Panama Canal Zone.

In Nov. 1943 he went overseas, now a brigadier general, as commanding general of the XIX Tactical Air Command. In all, Gen. Weyland participated in six major campaigns of World War II.

Gen. George S. Patton, who was a close friend, referred to Gen. Weyland as "the best damn general in the Air Corps."

In June, 1945 he was named Assistant Commandant of the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

After the reorganization of the Air Force as a separate part of the armed forces, Gen. Weyland became USAF Director of Plans and Operations in 1947.

It was during the Korean conflict when Gen. Weyland commanded the United Nations Air Forces that he received his four-star generalship.

He guided and assisted the Japanese in the reorganization of their air force. Through this superb work he became known as "the father of the New Japanese Air Force."

In 1954 Gen. Weyland assumed the position of Commander of Air Tactical Command.

He is married to the former Kathryn Houston McFarland of San Antonio and Houston. They have one daughter, Mary Kathryn who is married to Lt. Benjamin E. Tabler of the U. S. Navy.

Tankers Continue Top Performance

Art Adamson's College Station Swim Club members made a good showing at the Gulf Assn. Jr. Olympics which was held at the Dad's Club in Houston last Wednesday and Thursday.

In the midget division Dianne Bell, Virginia Patterson, Martha Lawrence and Kathy Myers took first place in the 100 yard medley relay. The team broke the old record and set a new time of 1:21.7 and later bettered its own record to 1:21.5.

Paul Fagan, David Brusse, Scott Hervey and Stephen Henry took third place in the 100 yard free relay.

Dianne Bell won third place in the 25 yard backstroke and Kay Callahan ranked third in the 25 yard butterfly. Iran Corbush followed Dianne Bell with a fourth place in the 25 yard backstroke.

The fourth place 100 yard relays were Dianne Bell, Kathy Myers, Kay Callahan and Martha Lawrence.

Work Begins On Highway Next Week

The Texas Highway Department has announced that construction will begin next week on Loop 158 (East 25th Street) beginning at State Highway 21 and continuing to State Highway 6 (College Avenue) in Bryan.

The construction will consist of grading, storm sewers, curb and gutter, adding flexible base and resurfacing with hot-mix asphaltic concrete pavement. When completed, the highway will be 64 feet wide and will provide for four through lanes and a parallel parking lane along each curb.

A similar type section was recently constructed on Texas Avenue. The Texas Highway Department, and the contractors, R. B. Butler, Inc., Bryan, and the Jarbet Company of San Antonio, expect the project to be completed by late winter.

C. B. Thames, District Engineer of the Texas Highway Department in Bryan, explained that through highway traffic on Loop 158 will be detoured and routed along San Jacinto Avenue (State Highway 21) and College Avenue (State Highway 6) during construction of the project. Route signs will be installed by the Texas Highway Department along the detour route.

The general revenue appropriation bill for the next two years, reported out of conference committee Wednesday afternoon and approved by the Senate passed by the House of Representatives today.

Dean Hannigan Honored Recently

James P. Hannigan, Dean of Students at A&M, was recently honored at a ceremony at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio at a ceremony celebrating his retirement from the Armed Forces on July 4.

Hannigan will begin his duties at A&M tomorrow. He will be in charge of coordinating student activities with Col. Joe Davis, Commandant of the Corps, and Bennie Zinn, Director of Student Personnel Services.

The ceremony in his honor ended thirty years of service that Hannigan gave in the Armed Forces.

When he assumes his position at A&M he will reside at 411 Crescent St. in Bryan with his wife, Doris, and their two sons, James and Thomas.

A&M Experts To Attend Meet Of Ag Teachers

Agricultural specialists from A&M will take an active part in the conference for Vocational Agriculture Teachers to be held in Fort Worth, next week Aug. 11-14. More than 900 vocational agriculture teachers are due to attend the conference.

A&M specialists will serve as leaders and consultants for workshops sponsored by the Texas Education Agency. "The workshops will provide technical and professional assistance to teachers who have a need of improvement in any of several areas of training to be offered," John Holcomb, executive secretary of the Association, points out.

The technical information is designed to benefit the more than 40,000 high school students of vocational agriculture in Texas as well as the thousands of adults with whom the state's more than 900 vocational agriculture teachers work.

"The 1959 conference of vocational agriculture teachers to be held in Fort Worth August 11-14, offers opportunity for the teachers to secure the latest on technical agricultural information," Holcomb says. "At the same time they exchange ideas and look into the new in teaching procedures, visual aids, Future Farmer Chapter operation, adult education and other 'shop-talk.' The state meeting also affords an opportunity for the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Assn. of Texas to hold its membership meetings and meetings of its board of directors. There the policies of the organization are adopted and plans for their being carried out are developed."

"The conference will be guided by the personnel of the Agriculture Education Division of the Texas Education Agency, headed by George Hurt, the director. The Association is headed by Pres. H. G. Barber of Floydada and a 30-man board of directors."

J. R. Jackson, associate professor in the A&M Department of Agricultural Education, will be a chairman, and Dr. Earl Knebel, assistant professor in the same department, will be a consultant for a workshop session on "A Research Study of Young Farmer Education in Texas."

In a workshop session on beef cattle, latest information on grading and selecting beef cattle, including performance and fertility testing and the Brucellosis program will be given by W. T. Berry, Dr. A. M. Sorenson, L. D. Wythe and Dr. G. T. King, all of A&M's Department of Animal Husbandry. They will be consultants for the workshop.

Recorder Artists, Pianist Featured in MSC Sunday

A unique musical instrument, the recorder, and a well-known local pianist will combine for the seventh presentation of the Memorial Student Center Summer Music Series at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Main Lounge.

Recorder artists will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hostetler and Joanne Hertzler. Sarah Watts will present a piano recital.

Accompanying Hostetler on solos will be Mrs. H. A. Luther. MSC Directorate hostess for the afternoon will be Myrna McGuire.

The instrument to be used by Mr. and Mrs. Hostetler and Miss Hertzler is a musical instrument of 12th century origin. Until the development of the transverse flute in the later part of the 17th century, the recorder held undisputed position as the flute in common use. In Handel's sonatas as well as in music by Bach, when the term "flute" is indicated, the music is intended to be performed on the recorder.

The term "recorder" is from an old English verb meaning "to warble like a bird." Known for its soft, sweet and melodious sound, the recorder has a range of a little over two octaves.

The three recorder artists are graduates of Goshen College in Goshen, Ind., with Mr. and Mrs. Hostetler holding degrees from other colleges as well. Mrs. Hostetler received a B.A. in Education degree from Goshen and her Master's from Ball State Teachers College in Muncie, Indiana.

Holding a Bachelor of Arts in Music degree from Goshen, Hostetler received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Home Economics from Purdue University. He is now employed by the Home Economics Department of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Miss Hertzler is a 1958 graduate of Goshen College and Goshen College School of Nursing with two degrees, a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education and a Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education.

All three musicians participated in music activities while in college. They became interested in playing recorder after hearing the Trap family in Goshen, and since that time have played with several chamber groups in Goshen and Lafayette, Ind.

Miss Watts, a Bryan resident, holds a Bachelor of Music degree from Baylor University, where her major field of study was piano. She has also done two years graduate work and was an instructor two years at Baylor. She now teaches piano in Bryan.

For her program Miss Watts has selected "A Sigh" by Liszt, Chopin's "Waltz in C Sharp Minor" and "Postludium" by Dohnanyi.

The final summer program will be presented by Carolyn Wilson, soprano, and Charles Mitchell, Jr., baritone, Sunday, Aug. 16.

'Filthy' Magazines Abashed at Meeting

Mrs. William E. Kidd, a local housewife, spoke to the College Station Kiwanis Club Tuesday in the Memorial Student Center on the bad influence of "filthy" magazines sold in the College Station area.

Mrs. Kidd asked the Kiwanians to back a possible city ordinance that would do away with the magazines. After investigating a number of the magazines the Kiwanians agreed to back such an ordinance.

Richard Vrooman, professor in the Division of Architecture, headed the weekly program with a talk on "Interior Decoration."

Champs Crowned At Tennis Tourney

The third annual Recreation Council Summer Tennis Tournament came to a close Saturday as the remaining singles' title and nine of ten doubles' championships were decided.

The final doubles division was called because of darkness and will be played Tuesday.

Mike Mills and David Riedel teamed to down a team of Mark Riedel and Rick Crow 6-1, 7-5 in the finals of the boys' doubles while Jackie Barton and Vicky Vrooman defeated Pat Callihan and Nancy Jones 6-3, 6-2 in the girls' division.

Ronny Bolen and Joe Joyer used 6-2, 6-2 scores to eliminate Jim Mills and Bobby Whiting in the 12-13 year old division as Sharon Yeager and Kim Alexander downed Miss Vrooman and Miss Barton 6-4, 6-1 in the girls' division.

Jody Rush and Joe Joyer picked up the 14-15 division crown when they defeated Bryan Coon and Tommy Kerley 6-4, 7-9, 6-3. In the girls' division Judy Morgan and Eleanor Worley took the title from Miss Yeager and Miss Alexander 6-2, 7-9, 6-3.

Rush teamed with Bolen in the 16-18 division to defeat Andy Anderson and Tomy Wilson 6-2, 6-1 while Elaine Nedbalek and Margaret Chapman proved too much for Jane Fisher and Linda Potts by a 6-1, 6-2 count.

In the Veteran's division, Jack Scott and Tex Isbell defeated R. W. Mitchell and Robert Budwine 6-4, 6-4.

The senior division, 19-29, is as yet undecided. When darkness halted play, Don Avera and Rush were meeting Bill Lyons and Dan Shaefer with the scores posted of 1-6, 6-2, 7-7.

The 16-18 girls' singles crown went to Margaret Chapman by a 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 win over Elaine Nedbalek.
