Short of Goal

The Student Senate-College Station Lions Club sponsored Blood Drive fell short of its proposed 400 pint goal by almost one-third—getting only an estimated 280 pints.

All of the blame for the failure of the Blood Drive to reach its goal, does not fall upon the Men of Aggeland. Many of the Army and Air Force ROTC juniors showed up to give blood, only to be refused because they had recently had shots.

The long winter has caused many students to still have colds and these people could not give blood.

Last year when the Blood Drive got 396 pints of Aggie blood, the weather was not too much of a factor and the shots for ROTC juniors were given later and did not interfere with the Blood Drive.

Had more of the Men of Aggeland signed up in advance, undoubtedly more blood could have been donated to the Wadley Foundation for research use.

But, the Blood Drive is now past history and the Men of Aggeland will have to use their standby platitude, "Wait 'til next year," to improve their blood donation record.

The College Station Lions Club under the leadership of David Fitch and the Student Senate under the leadership of Jake Sckerka can take credit for setting up the drive which will give blood to aid in the Texas Children's Research Foundation for their use in fighting hemophilia and leukemia—two dread killers of children.

To all who gave blood or assisted in the collection The Battalion says thanks for the children of Texas who might be saved by the donation.

SCHOOL CLOTHES
When making a little girl a dress or a small boy a shirt, sew a small piece of the cloth somewhere in an inside seam, such as the side seam so that it will lie flat and be unnoticed when laundered. When the youngsters tear the garment you will have a scrap of cloth for a patch that is the exact shade of material as the garment for it will have been laundered the same number of times.

WASHINGTON (AP)—At this moment the Soviet Union and the West are trying not to touch West Berlin with anything longer than a 10-foot pole. They will have to get a lot closer soon. That city is potentially the hottest spot in Europe.

It will be at the heart of the summit conference in May. No one is predicting the conference will produce a solution on the city satisfactory to both sides.

Perhaps the most that can be hoped for in the foreseeable future—say for a couple of years anyway—is a reluctance by the Soviets to push too hard in their drive to shake West Berlin out of the Allied camp.

If they do push—by trying to force the Allied troops out or shutting off the city from the West—shooting may follow. And that kind of shooting could hardly be limited to one city.

It is the belief of the Eisenhower administration that there can be no limited war in Western Europe—such as was possible in such a faraway spot as Korea—and that any war there will mean general war.

It was almost 16 months ago that Premier Nikita Khrushchev told the West to get its troops out of West Berlin which, although tied to West Germany, lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

The departure of the troops no doubt would weaken the will of the West Berliners to resist the encroachments of the Communists all around them. The loss of the city would not be fatal to the West. But it would be a psychological disaster.

This week West Germany's 84-year-old Chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, came here, talked with President Eisenhower about the stand the Allies would take on Berlin at the summit, and went away feeling reassured.

He and the President issued a joint statement that they were agreed any settlement with the Soviet Union on Berlin must preserve the freedom of the West Berliners.

But when the Allies—including Eisenhower—sit down with Khrushchev in Paris next May their firmness in standing together against damaging concessions to the Soviets will be tested.

At this moment Khrushchev—following pretty much the peaceful line he took at his Camp David meeting with Eisenhower here last fall—is quiet. But there is absolutely no indication he intends to back down on Berlin.

All the heat now being generated about Berlin may evaporate a bit—because for reasons of their own the Soviets are willing to let it evaporate—but it is unbelievable they will subside permanently.

To have the free and prosperous city of West Berlin deep in the heart of Communist Europe is like permitting a capitalistic cancer to flourish in the body of Marxism.

In short, West Berlin should continue to be both a hot spot and a sore one for years to come, even though nothing violent happens in the meantime.

A future Corps commander was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tackaberry, 400 First St., College Station, last Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan at 6:08 p.m. Robert Roger Tackaberry weighed 7 lbs. 7 oz.

Miss BETH LEGER, Lovely Lake Charles, La., girl says:

"I wear my TSO CONTACT LENSES in complete comfort 16 hours a day..."

"I've worn my TSO contact lenses since January, 1959, and feel like a different person. I've lost the inferiority complex from having to wear glasses. My contact lenses were fitted to perfection."

Both contact lens surfaces are precision-ground and polished for optical perfection. Not molded or pressed.
