Morrison Opens Pan Am Week

United States Ambassador to the Organization of American States, deLesseps S. Morrison, opened Pan American Week Wednesday night with a speech on "New Horizons in Latin America."

Morrison painted an optimistic picture of the changing faces of Central and South America. He described President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress as a blueprint for collective action and voiced confidence in its success.

Registration Begins For Blood Donations

Registration began Wednesday for the annual Aggie Blood Drive and continued through Friday. The actual donations will be made in the lower level of the Memorial Student Center April 24, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Ken Stanton, chairman of the student welfare committee, said that all students who donate blood to the Aggie Blood Bank will be eligible to draw from it in the event of injury or disease to them or their immediate families.

Roberts Sets Mark; Thinclads Down Bears

Weightman Danny Roberts broke another school record with a 180-9 1/2 discus throw as the Aggie track team trounced Baylor, 82-52 in a dual meet on Kyle Field.

Roberts, who tossed the shot put 58-7, collected 13 points to edge out sophomore broad and high-jumper John Collins, who totaled 11 1/4, for individual honors.

Ten Outdoor Benches Ready For Installation

Jerry Vion, chairman of the student life committee of the Student Senate, announced Wednesday that 10 new outdoor benches will be installed on campus before Mother's Day.

The 10 "permanent" benches will be installed on a trail basis and, if they are not mistreated, 30 more like them will be set up.

Vion said the seats will be placed in front of Dormitories 2, 10, 5 and 6; Hart Hall, Mitchell, Milner, Leggett, Walton and in the quadrangle between Law and Puryear.

JFK Handed Prickly Issue By Civil Rights Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission has handed President Kennedy a prickly political package by recommending a federal fund for segregationist Mississippi.

The commission suggested that Kennedy explore his authority to deny the state about $650 million it receives annually from the federal government. This handed him an escape hatch; he could decide he lacked such authority.

There was a suggestion too from the commission that Kennedy study whether legislation is needed to prevent federal funds being paid out to a state which "continues to refuse to abide by the Constitution."

The political implications of acting-or not acting-could have a direct bearing on the outcome of Kennedy's expected bid for reelection in 1964.

Here is the way many politicians viewed the matter:

Kennedy's stock with the Negro minorities which influence the political decisions of the electoral vote-heavy industrial states would slump if he took no action to sustain the rights of citizens the commission said had been "shot, set upon by vicious dogs, beaten and otherwise terrorized because they sought to vote."

If the President cut off Mississippi funds, he would risk losing support among white voters in the South. The 31 electoral votes he got from Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas gave him his winning margin in 1960.

Kennedy could expect no action on the commission's recom-

Outnumber Incumbents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas now has more living former members of Congress — 27 — than incumbent members — 25.

Twelve former members still reside here, among them four who are now federal judges. The latest to join the local group is ex-Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, who has established a public relations firm.

A survey show that 14 former members, including one active and one retired federal judge and one state district judge now reside in Texas. The 27th former member, Wingate Lucas, now is an attorney with headquarters in New York City.

The over-all group of former members includes six who served in the Senate. One is Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who also served in the House for years. The others are former Sens. Tom Connally, Price Daniel, W. Lee O'Daniel, William Blakely and 81-year-old Earle B. Mayfield, of Tyler, who served in the Senate from 1923 to 1929.

The oldest living former member is 94-year-old John Nance Garner of Uvalde. Before becoming vice president in 1933, Garner spent 30 years in the House. Some other former members living here, in addition to Johnson, Connally and Rutherford, are:

Chief Judge Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims; Chief Judge Eugene Worley of the Court of Custom and Patent Appeals; Judge Paul Kilday of the Court of Military Appeals; Judge Eugene Black of the U. S. Tax Court.
