Aggie Hour Slated Over KORA Radio

The Aggie Hour will return to the air at 10:10 p.m. Thursday night on KORA Radio.

Organized by Bob Bell and Jerry Cooper, the show will consist of popular music present and past, along with news clips on current happenings on the A&M campus.

The program will also give students in Journalism 311, a radio-television class, some experience in developing news stories for radio broadcast.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Night Classes Are Expanded

An expanded selection of late afternoon and evening classes will be offered between 5 and 9 p.m. this summer at A&M.

H. L. Heaton, A&M registrar, said the enlarged evening schedule is designed for the convenience of people living within a 100 mile radius of the university who hold down full-time jobs but still live close enough to commute.

"There are quite a few residents within this area who will continue their education if they can get the course work they need at night," he said. "We intend to make it as easy for them as possible by offering this large selection of courses."

Summer school at A&M is divided into two sessions. The first begins June 7 and runs to July 16; the second begins July 19 and ends August 27.

Courses to be offered during the first session include: Business Administration 105, introduction to business, and BA 211, business law.

Education 601, college teaching. Psychology 207, general psychology, and Psychology 634, principals of human development.

English 103 and 104, composition and rhetoric. Speech 403, public speaking. Geology 201, general geology. Government 206, American national government, and government 207, state and local government.

History 105, history of the United States. Liberal Arts 311, use of library resources.

Oceanography 201, sea and air sciences. During the second term, the late afternoon and evening course will include:

Business Administration 106, business organization, and BA 212, business law.

Education 421, history and philosophy, and Education 439, educational statistics.

Psychology 301, education psychology. English 104, composition and rhetoric.

Speech 403, public speaking. Government 207, state and local government. History 106, history of the United States.

Persons interested in enrolling in one or more of the courses may obtain additional details from the Registrar's Office at A&M.

ROTC Members Visiting AF Bases On Weekends

Groups of A&M students in the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps are gaining firsthand knowledge of Air Force bases through weekend visits.

Aggies already have visited Amarillo Air Force Base and Lackland Air Base in San Antonio. Others visits are scheduled to be at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin and Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, on April 1.

The 35 sophomores expected to make the Austin trip will see Strategic Air Command operations including B-52 bombers, KC-135 jet refueling tankers and Hound Dog Missiles.

Twenty juniors and seniors visiting Kelly Air Force Base will observe operations of the Air National Guard F-102 fighter-interceptor squadron.
