19 Candidates Governed By Revised Rules

By DALE FOSTER
Battalion Staff Writer

Voting for the first time under a partially new set of election rules, students enrolled in the Colleges of Business Administration and Pre-Veterinary Medicine will elect Student Senate representatives Thursday from a field of 19 candidates.

Voters will choose sophomore, junior, and senior representatives of the College of Business Administration, newly-created this fall, and sophomore representative of Pre-Veterinary Medicine. Several students filed last May for B.A. representatives but had to wait until the college was officially created.

THE CANDIDATES will be as follows:

Senior B.A. representatives—Carl G. Chapman, Robert Lee Edgecomb, Arthur J. Erickson, Kim H. Forney, Kenneth W. Hess,

James R. Horner, candidate for Senior B.A. representative, asked The Battalion Tuesday to withdraw his name from the list of candidates.

Guy W. Leflar, and R. C. Tortorice.

Junior B.A. representatives—Michael L. Doggett, Steve P. Little, John F. MacGillis, Richard J. Reese, and Sam Torn.

Sophomore B.A. representatives—Kent A. Caperton and Thad H. Marsh.

Sophomore Pre-Vet representatives—Tommy Henderson, Bruce W. Irving, James B. King IV, and Perry Lee Reeves.

Election Commission Vice Chairman Tommy Henderson said Tuesday that absentee voting would continue through this evening for those unable to cast their ballot Thursday. Interested students can contact Election Commission President Gerald Geistweid in Dorm 5, Room 215.

VOTING tomorrow will take place in Room 153, the typing room, of Francis Hall, Business Administration Building. Hours for polling will be 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Francis Hall is located between the library and the Chemistry Building.

"Students participating in the election will need their ID cards and their activity cards to vote," noted Henderson. "Voters will mark their choices on paper ballots and not the voting machines."

He added that results will be posted in the Student Programs Office of the Memorial Student Center as soon as they are available Thursday night. If needed, a run-off election will take place Oct. 24.

IN THE EVENT THAT no candidate receives a majority of the vote, a run-off will be held between the two receiving the highest number of votes. In case a tie exists between those in second place, a run-off will occur among them and the candidate that polled the most votes.

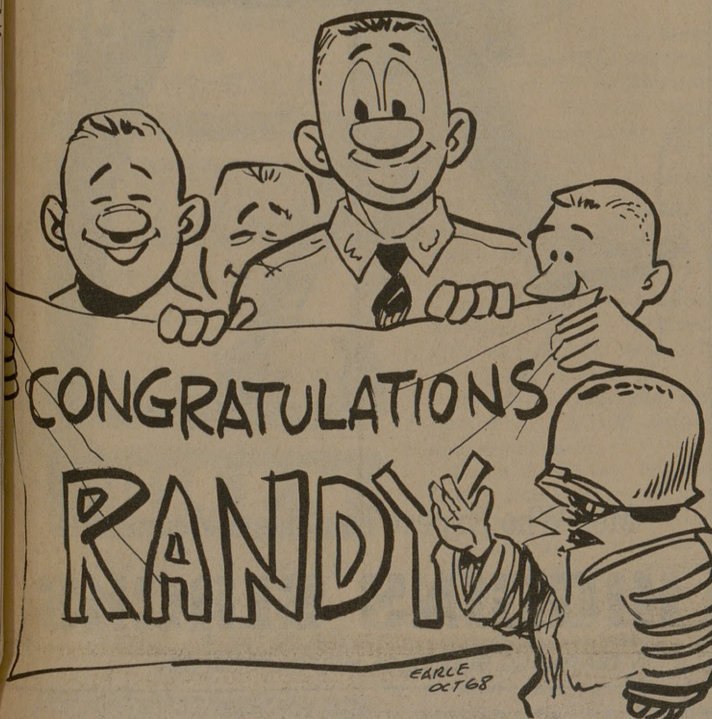

"Except for those in the run-off election, all candidates will have to file expense reports Thursday with the programs office," Henderson said. "Campaign posters for candidates, except those in the run-offs, will also have to be removed Friday."

"Failure to do so will result in the disqualification of the student from any Election Commission-supervised election for the remainder of the school year," he added.

EACH CANDIDATE CAN spend no more than $25 during his campaign and can use any type of public communications other than the public address systems in the dining halls. Campaigning is not allowed in the polling places.

MSC Travel Emphasis Week Seeks Student Adventurers

By TIM SEARSON
Battalion Staff Writer

Thursday night's multi-program presentation will highlight Travel Emphasis Week, according to Jeanna Chastain, chairman of the Memorial Student Center Travel Committee.

"We hope all Aggies interested in going overseas this summer will attend our meeting, at 7:30 p.m. in room 2B of the MSC," said Miss Chastain.

"We hope to start our program early this year so any interested Aggies and members of the faculty will be able to pick the country of their choice. Also, scholarships and loans are granted to early applicants."

Topics to be discussed will include overseas employment, independent travel, living with a foreign family, and the Crossroads Africa project.

The time spent overseas will cover from mid-June to the latter part of August. Committee members are working now to secure enough money to loan to interested students. Loans do not have to be paid back until after graduation.

Pat Rehmet, who visited Poland last summer, will talk on the Experiment in International Living. Rehmet, deputy corps commander last year, spent the past summer in the home of a Polish family.

Overseas summer employment will be discussed by Augustine Fernandez, who traveled to Spain. Jobs are found for the student that correspond to his field of study.

Miss Chastain will discuss the charter flight and the Crossroads Africa project. The charter flight takes students who want to go abroad to their destination and back home again, letting them travel on their own.

An estimated 25 students participated in the charter flight last summer.

Crossroads Africa is a program open to engineering, scientific and other technological students who would like to gain experience by working in Africa.

"Last year we ranked among the top five schools in sending participants overseas in the Experiment in International Living," Miss Chastain said. "The number of students who do receive scholarships are in competition with other schools, so we are stressing the importance of early applications."

be able to attend the orientations to be conducted in the latter part of November.

Chosen delegates will be given a copy of the Library of Congress Record, a 60-page document containing the basic facts concerning U. S. foreign policy. Delegates will be expected to familiarize themselves with United States policies before the December conference.

"WE WANT DELEGATES who will conduct themselves as a credit to A&M during the conference," said Harry Lesser, Vice-Chairman of SCONA XIV.

Delegates will be expected to pay the five-dollar registration fee for the conference that will convene at noon on Dec. 4 and close about 2:30 p.m. on Dec. 7.

"Applicants should be sure that they can attend all sessions," pointed out Lesser.

The conference will feature an address by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, retired Army chief of Staff on the evening of Dec. 5. The topic will be "U. S. Military Programs in Foreign Countries."

THE KEYNOTE SPEECH is tentatively scheduled to be given by Walter Rostow, special assistant to President Johnson. It is hoped that the wrap-up speech on Saturday afternoon will be by Walter Cronkite, nationally-famous news analyst for CBS. However, his attendance has not been confirmed, Lesser said.

Applications for A&M delegates to the Fourteenth Student Conference on National Affairs are being accepted in the director's office of the Memorial Student Center until 5 p.m. Friday.

A&M will send 24 delegates to the conference scheduled for Dec. 4-7. Of these, eight will be foreign students and 16 will be Americans.

PROSPECTIVE DELEGATES must have at least a junior academic classification and hold a 1.5 GPR or higher. Applicants must be available for interview between Oct. 21 and Oct. 30 and be scattered through the four-day conference. Foreign representatives include roundtable co-chairmen from Israel, Czechoslovakia, Nigeria, West Germany, Japan and India.

Also slated to appear are Senora Barbara B. de Gomez, executive director of the Experiment in International Living in Mexico and Gutierrez Tibon, editor-in-chief of the Enciclopedia de Mexico.

CO-CHAIRMEN FROM THE United States include a representative from Dow Chemical Company, two people from the U. S. Department of State, and a faculty member from both the Air Force Academy and the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. In addition, two members of the A&M faculty will take part in the discussions.

A&M President Earl Rudder has extended invitations to 124 colleges and universities in the United States, Mexico and Canada. Vice-Chairman Lesser said he expects about 130 delegates from other schools.

Social events of the conference include a barbecue, smorgasbord, dinner with the A&M Corps of Cadets, a performance by the Singing Cadets and a Town Hall presentation featuring the Romanian Folk Ballet.

A graded review by the Corps of Cadets will be conducted on Dec. 5 with Gen. Johnson in the reviewing party.

Deadline for making degree applications for the fall semester is Friday, according to Registrar H. L. Heaton.

The graduation candidate should report to the Fiscal Office and pay the graduation fee which includes the Graduate Record Examination and diploma costs, Heaton said. Graduate students pay only the diploma fee.

Installment Due

The second installment of board payment is now being accepted at the Fiscal Office in the Coke Building. Payment of $74 for seven-day plans and $67 for five-day plans must be paid by Monday to avoid penalty.

Air Force General To Review Corps March-In At TCU Game

Air Force Brig. Gen. Robert W. Maloy of the Military Personnel Center, Randolph AFB, will review the Corps of Cadets in a graded march-in for the A&M-TCU football game Saturday.

The honor military guest is deputy assistant deputy chief of staff, personnel, and a 25-year Air Force veteran with service in Vietnam, Europe and China.

With General Maloy on the reviewing stand will be President Earl Rudder, Air Force Col. Vernon L. Head, Army Col. Jim H. McCoy and Neil Keltner, former cadet colonel of the Corps and 1965 graduate.

The march-in starts at 6:30 p.m. Kickoff is at 7:30.

Gen. Maloy, 44, was shot down while leading an F-4 strike against North Vietnam targets a year ago. He made it to the
