The Sixth Annual Vince Lombardi Award will be presented this Thursday, Jan. 22, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Houston.
The $100 a Plate benefit dinner honoring the nation's top lineman is a tribute to the former grid star and NFL coach. Proceeds for research go to the American Cancer Society.

Among the candidates for the granite trophy are Ed Simonini of Texas A&M, LeRoy and Dewey Selmon of Oklahoma, and Steve Niehaus of Notre Dame.

Linebacker Ed Simonini earned numerous honors during 1975 in guiding the Texas Aggies to a 9-2 season and a trip to the Liberty Bowl. He finished first in combined tackles for the nation's number one defense. For the second time in four years, Simonini was named the Southwest Conference's Defensive Player of the Year.

The Selmon duo have gained widespread recognition as one of the greatest brothers acts in the history of the game. They were the backbone of the Oklahoma defense and were instrumental in leading the Sooners to their second straight national championship. Both were consensus all-Americans and LeRoy received the 1975 Outland Trophy.
Steve Niehaus was a four year starter for the Fighting Irish. The mammoth defensive tackle was moved back to the familiar position after earning honors as a defensive end in 1974. He led the Notre Dame defense in tackles in 1975 and finished as a consensus all-American.

Former NFL pro and Chicago Bear Head Coach Jack Pardee is the featured speaker. NBC's Jim Simpson will be the master of ceremonies for the 7:30 p.m. dinner to be preceded by a cocktail reception at 6:30 p.m.

Women blast UH, take 55-48 victory

By CAROLYN BLOSSER
Battalion Sports Writer

In a fast and furious game last night, A&M thrashed the University of Houston 55-48, bringing their record up to 5-1 for the season.

Accurate shooting and perfect execution weren't exactly characteristic of this aggressive, physical game. Both teams committed numerous fouls and made a low percentage of their attempted shots. But they did provide plenty of action in the never-a-dull-moment game.

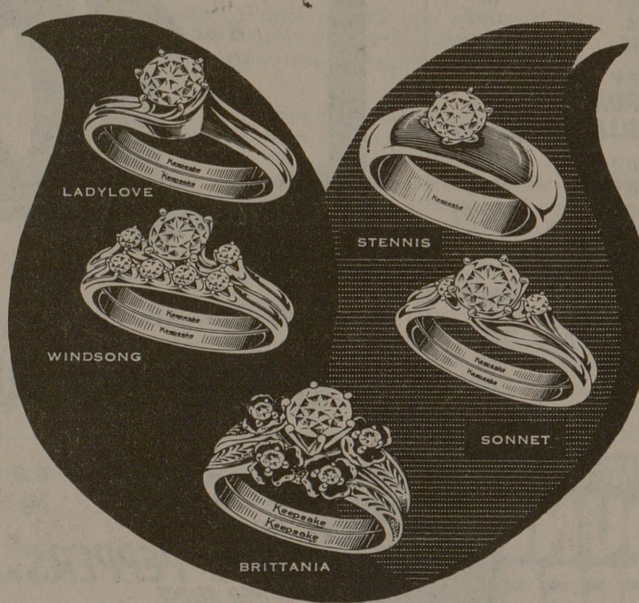

The Ags' main nemesis came in the personage of 6-2 Cathy Bardwell who was responsible for 23 of Houston's points. Bardwell, who lacked some of the other players' speed and agility, was very effective when playing under the basket. There she frequently scored with the help of some quick passes from her teammates.

But height isn't everything and the Cougars soon found that out. Except for their opening 2-0 lead, Houston trailed A&M the entire game.

Sally Morisse was the main force behind the Aggie attack, scoring 14 points and snagging 9 rebounds. Cissy Auclair and Cindy Gough each scored 10 points, while Diane Quitta and Margaret Byrne scored 8 and 5 points, respectively.

Other players contributing to the final score were Donna Parmer, Cindy Horton, Jane Anne Jenkins, and Dana Callaway. Quitta led in assists with 6.

The Aggies will travel to Beaumont Friday, where they will face Lamar University. Their next home game will be Jan. 26 against Prairie View A&M at 5:15 p.m. in G. Rollie White Coliseum.
