Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO — Dismissing portions of Patricia Hearst's defense as "unbelievable," a government psychiatric expert has portrayed her as the reigning monarch of a rag-tag army of revolutionaries she lifted to international fame.

"She was the queen" of the Symbionese Liberation Army, said Dr. Joel Fort. "She brought them international recognition, the excitement, the press attention . . . She enjoyed the status and recognition this brought her."

Fort, a physician with psychiatric training, took issue on Monday with several key elements in Miss Hearst's own story of fear and sexual assault inflicted by her SLA captors. The government is trying to prove to the jury that Miss Hearst took part willingly in a 1974 bank robbery. The defense claims, and Miss Hearst has testified, that she participated out of fear for her life.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning, Jr. spent most of the day eliciting Fort's picture of the 22-year old newspaper heiress. Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey had just begun his cross-examination when court recessed for the day. He planned to resume his questioning today.

Fort, his opinions based on four jailhouse interviews with Miss Hearst as well as other material, declared that the defendant was "a voluntary member of the SLA" when she and four comrades robbed the Hibernia Bank on April 15, 1974.

"She did not perform the bank robbery because she was in fear of her life," Fort said over strenuous objections by Bailey. U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter allowed the answer to stand but instructed the jury that it was strictly Fort's opinion.

When Browning asked about Miss Hearst's contention that she shot up a sports store in the Los Angeles area to rescue two underground companions because of a "reflex" action drilled into her by the terrorists, Fort said, "I find it unbelievable."

Hearst — Reigning monarch runs rag-tag revolutionary army

An enraged Bailey jumped to his feet, but Carter overruled his objection, again cautioning the jury to treat the answer as one man's opinion.

Fort appeared to push Miss Hearst to the point of an angry outburst when he specifically contradicted her emotional tale of rape in a tiny closet where she was held captive in the weeks after her Feb. 4, 1974 kidnaping.

Miss Hearst told him, Fort said, that she submitted to now-dead terrorists Willie Wolfe and Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze because they asked to have sexual intercourse with her and she thought it would help keep her alive.

"She said she had had intercourse with Wolfe a couple of times prior to the bank robbery," Fort said. "She did not indicate he in any way forced himself on her or that directly or indirectly rape was involved."

Miss Hearst, who had wept when recalling for the jury that she had been forced to have sex with a man she despised, stirred in her chair and Bailey placed a restraining hand on her shoulder.

The defendant occasionally turned toward her parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, and sneered slightly as Fort gave his testimony.

When Fort said that "enthusiasm seemed to be absent" when she was reunited with her family the night of her Sept. 18 arrest, she whispered to her parents a salty characterization of the witness.

The Hearsts laughed, and the defendant's younger sister, Vicki, moaned, "Oh, my God."

Miss Hearst frequently scribbled notes and handed them to her attorneys as Fort described her as having an "extremely independent, rebellious" youth, experimenting with drugs and "becoming sexually active at age 15."

He pictured the defendant as bored and restless before her kidnaping, "a chance exposure at a time when she was looking for something" and found it in the excitement on the run.

He said her relationship with wealthy family ranged "from hatred" and that she had "to get away from the name and nature of the Hearst family."

When six members of the tribe were killed in a shooting fire in May 1974, he said, Hearst had a "mourning period." She had developed particular bonds "for Wolfe and Siders Angela Atwood and Ling Perry, he said.

"I was impressed with the city when she spoke of her Willie Wolfe" on a taped ending than a month later, Fort said. Hearst has renounced that as made under duress from a prepared by others.

Fort, who has appeared as a witness in nearly 200 trials on the stand as a consultant to government. He said he spent 15 hours examining the defen-

FBI focus on Jews, blacks, Communists, women's lib

Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Women's libbers, Communists, militant blacks and Jews and taxpayers protesting against taxes were among the targets of domestic surveillance by government agencies, a Senate committee says.

The Senate intelligence committee released nearly 1,000 pages of documents Monday, detailing domestic FBI wiretap and surveillance operations and Internal Revenue Service undercover spying.

One memo shows the FBI used informers during 1969 and 1970 to keep track of the women's liberation movement in several U.S. cities, but never turned up any evidence of revolutionary or violent activity. The panel said it found that informers were employed in New York, Baltimore, Kansas City, Mo., Columbia, Mo., and Lawrence Kan.

But a May 1969 memo from the head of FBI offices in New York to the late Director J. Edgar Hoover said informers found the women's lib movement "is not an organization as such but rather a cause and philosophy" interested in such issues as birth control and abortion.

One informer told the FBI that members of the women's movement "are not revolutionaries and would not help anyone in a revolution until the oppression of women was solved first and completely," the memo said.

Committee documents also showed the IRS used undercover agents to monitor activities of tax protesters in Los Angeles and Chicago. One memo said an IRS undercover agent in Los Angeles gave the Justice Department advance information on the legal strategy planned by a protester facing trial for refusing to pay his taxes.

A memo describing activities of the "undercover operative" said the agent had been able to obtain a copy of the tax protesters' legal briefs in several months before it was filed in court.

The memo said the advance gave the IRS time to "do additional research in order for the U.S. attorney to properly answer the charges which sought dismissal of the charges against the unidentified protester."

An undercover IRS agent signed to attend public meetings in Chicago of the Illinois Tax Protesters' Committee, a 1973 memo also said.

Another memo released by the panel outlined FBI wiretap activities against the Black Panthers, Jewish Defense League and Communist Party U.S.A. The panel is believed to provide the authoritative list of domestic and individuals subjected to electronic surveillance by the FBI.

The memo said seven wiretaps and an electronic bug were against the Black Panthers. Other targets were the Jewish Military Organizations, described as "a black extremist organization" and the Worker Student Alliance, an affiliate of the Students for a Democratic Society, and some individuals.
