

TEXAS 1876 Academic assembly to meet

JULY 9-15
SAN ANTONIO — An accident caused by a runaway hack team and involving four vehicles resulted in the death of Major Ord, United States Army. The disaster began when the unattended hack team took flight and ran away. They collided with Dr. Cripple's buggy, but he managed to hold his horses. However, they also startled a span of mares which threw their driver and Major Ord's carriage. The Major died after being thrown from the carriage. The driver who left his team unattended is in jail.

Demands facing Texas higher education and issues calling for more effective administration are topics for the summer's second centennial academic assembly at Texas A&M July 19-21 in the Memorial Student Center.

Texas' Commissioner of Higher Education and a variety of officials from Harvard, Yale, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Trinity, Stephen F. Austin, the Academy for Educational Development and the host university will assemble to discuss those issues.

The centennial gathering is held in conjunction with the 10th Summer Seminar on Academic Administration July 18-23 that trains new and prospective educational administrators.

Starting the assembly July 19 is SFA president Dr. Ralph Steen who will present an historical perspective of Texas higher education. Commissioner of Higher Education Dr. Kenneth Ashworth, appointed this year to that post, delves into administration quality.

Dr. John Millett, management vice president of the Washington, D.C. Academy of Educational Development, reviews the decision-making process next.

Closing out the day's speakers is Dr. George Weatherby of the Harvard Graduate School of Education who discusses fiscal accountability.

July 20's itinerary begins with a review of evaluation by Dr. Paul Dressel, assistant provost for institutional research at Michigan State.

Dr. Gail Myers, Trinity dean of arts and sciences, and Dr. Michelle Myers, assistant professor of communications at Trinity, will conduct a session on communications in management.

Leonard Marcus, Yale director of employe relations, begins the final day's program with a talk on labor relations.

OU legal counsel Beverly Ledbetter is next with her topic of Affirmative Action and equal employment.

Closing the third day's schedule is Dr. Manuel Davenport, head of the Philosophy and Humanities Department at Texas A&M. He will review academic freedom and tenure.

The assembly is sponsored by the A&M College of Education, which is presenting a series of assemblies on public, higher and continuing education.

The College of Education is also sponsoring the summer administration seminar in cooperation with the Continuing Education Office.

GALVESTON — Belle Boyd, the spy of Confederate fame, is at the Southern. She comes to Texas on a lecturing tour.

AUSTIN — The members of the Constitutional Convention, who thought they had destroyed the lobby, would find, if here now, their expectations disappointed. The railroads have a first-class lobby, and Dallas has special representatives to branch the Supreme Court to that City.

TERRELL — Hon. W. W. Lang was the principal orator at a Grange picnic at Terrell. Captain Dumps of Collin County, defended the order and rebuked the course of many of its members who say they are waging war against all other classes of industry. He said they were not. He was not opposed to any man or his business.

HOUSTON — A Mrs. Donovan, having been brutally insulted by a crowd of ruffians, knocked one down with her six-shooter, shot another, and made her escape.

HOUSTON — The Market House in the Houston was destroyed by fire July 13. The building contained not only a splendid public market place, but also the finest theatre or opera house in the state. During the excitement 20,000 people crowded the streets. The Light Guards were called out to keep back the crowd, preserve order, protect property, and give the women room to work.

GOLIAD — We are informed that the gang of vagabonds recently ordered out of the country by the citizens of Goliad, have returned to that town and promise to be quiet, go to work and behave themselves. Under these conditions it is thought they will be allowed to remain without molestation.

ADVERTISEMENTS — Saratoga Baths, Mill Bridge, San Antonio. Reopening for the season! Season Tickets $5, Monthly Tickets $2. For use of towels 25 cents per month extra. Dozen Tickets $1.50, Single Tickets 20 cents, including use of towels and soap. Children admitted to the Children's Basin at one half of the above rates, but no towels or soap furnished.
