U.S. officials announce arrest of drug kingpins

Associated Press
SAN DIEGO — Federal authorities said Monday they had arrested major kingpins in a cocaine smuggling operation believed to be responsible for 20 percent to 25 percent of the cocaine entering the United States every year.

In a morning news conference, U.S. Attorney Peter Nunez said 59 people are in custody and nine others were being sought in the investigation, which involved an international cocaine smuggling cartel operating out of Peru and Colombia.

The arrests were made on criminal complaints and some indictments handed down in recent days by a federal grand jury, and Nunez said a grand jury on Thursday will hear evidence against about 20 alleged purchasers and users of the narcotic.

The indictment unsealed Monday alleged that Augustin Fernando Maurtua, a La Costa, Calif., resident, headed the West Coast distribution network of the operation from northern San Diego County.

The indictment also alleged that Jose Antonio Ledgard was responsible for East Coast distribution from Miami.

Nunez said extensive use of wiretaps and other surveillance was made during the 18-month probe.

Diogenes Galanos, special agent in charge of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration office here, said metric tons of cocaine were involved in the operation.

Nunez said millions of dollars left the United States illegally as part of the cartel's operation.

The indictment alleged the cartel had outlets for distribution throughout the United States, including San Diego; Los Angeles; San Francisco; Dallas; Miami; Sun Valley, Idaho; Portland, Ore.; New York city; Atlanta; Hawaii and Agana, Guam.
