Thirty three countries from Latin America, Europe, Asia and Africa had cultural display booths Monday and Tuesday in the Memorial Student Center where they displayed various wares and products native to their country.

At the booths people could talk to Texas A&M students from that country. Intricate carvings, pottery, paintings, currency, leather craft and literature were displayed. Bangladesh was judged to have the best display table. Malaysia placed second and Lebanon third.

Thursday night the international food fair was held. Samples food from various countries such as Singapore, Turkey, the Philippines, Norway, Panama, Mexico and India were at the food fair. The varieties of food ranged from tortillas to black-eyed peas and fruit native to the country. Lebanon won first place in the food fair judged on the taste of the food, the decoration of their table and the hospitality and organization of the members of that country.

A fashion show and talent show were held Friday night in Rudder Auditorium. The native fashions of each country were modeled and representatives from each country participated in the talent show which was won by Indonesia. Lebanon and the Philippines tied for second and Bolivia placed third.
