FRESHMAN ORIENTATION WEEK '93

Incoming cadets learn about life in the Corps

By Jennifer Smith
THE BATTALION

Freshmen entering the Texas A&M University Corps of Cadets this fall are learning this week what it's like to be an Aggie in the Corps.

Freshmen Orientation Week (FOW), which began Aug. 22 and ends Aug. 28, helps new cadets adjust to the Corps as well as to the University.

Marc Bertamini, Corps adjutant, said freshmen orientation week prepares freshmen for life in the Corps and for life at A&M.

Bertamini said freshmen in the Corps are much better prepared than the average student after their complete orientation week.

"We take great pains to make sure they succeed," Bertamini said. "They have a lot more to deal with than the average freshman."

Deputy Corps Commander Mando Avila agreed that orientation week gives cadets a better chance for success.

"Freshmen Orientation Week lets the freshmen get a feel for the University," Avila said. "They get a taste of what the Corps and campus is all about."

He said FOW is also helpful for the cadets because they get to know their commanders.

More than 750 new cadets are participating in Freshmen Orientation Week, including 40 women and 90 African-American and Hispanic students.

Freshmen are assigned to their outfits and rooms and are given hair cuts and a physical during FOW. They are also shown where all of their classrooms are located before classes begin Monday.

"We basically teach them how to be in the Corps," Bertamini said.

Other than procedural tasks, the freshmen will also participate in 'P.T.' or physical training every morning. This consists of exercises and long jogs around the University.

Bertamini said the freshman band, which consists of about 131 cadets, will also practice this week.

Many speakers will talk to the freshmen about different facets of student life, including academics, the Aggie Code of Honor, traditions and extracurricular activities.

Bertamini said the freshmen will also be shown how to march in formation.

Their first official review will be Saturday. Fish Review, which is held at Simpson Drill Field at 1:30 p.m., concludes Freshmen Orientation Week. The new cadets will march from the Quadrangle to the drill field at 1 p.m.

"A lot of the stuff during Freshmen Orientation Week is just procedural and paperwork," Bertamini said. "Fish Review is a little reward for them after a hard week."

"It's basically a transition from being a student to being a member of the Corps," Bertamini said.

Bertamini will turn the new cadets over to the Corps Commander during the Fish Review ceremonies. Each cadet will take an oath of office and become an official member of the Corps.

Avila said FOW is not mandatory, but almost all of the freshmen cadets attend.

H&R Block Income Tax Course Begins Soon

Thousands of people learn how to prepare income tax returns from H&R Block and then earn money as income tax preparers. H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, offers its Income Tax Course starting August 30. A choice of morning or evening classes is available, and will be held at H&R Block's office in College Station.

Experienced instructors teach tax law, theory and application. Classroom discussion and practice problems provide students a thorough understanding of each tax topic included in the course. Students learn how to handle increasingly complex income tax situations as the course progresses.

Ideal for people who want to increase their tax knowledge, the course teaches students how to save money on their taxes and also prepares them for a rewarding career.

The affordable fee includes textbooks and supplies. Graduates will receive Certificates of Achievement and continuing education units (CEU's). Qualified graduates of the course may be offered job interviews with H&R Block but are under no obligation to accept employment.

Those interested in more information about the H&R Block Income Tax Course may contact the H&R Block Income Tax School at 10700 Stancliff Road, Houston, Texas 77099, or call H&R Block's toll free line at 1-800-527-7346.

Walk-in registration will be available at the class location.
