One camera can zoom in on the door of a known crack house a block away, or check out a bus stop nearly two blocks away where drug deals have been witnessed.

The first week of school last month, a camera at Worthing caught a 17-year-old student smashing a coach's rear windshield with a pipe.

School officials watched as the teen left the campus, then returned with a BB gun-toting brother and a friend.

The three looked ready for trouble, but police officers were waiting for them.

"If it hadn't been for that camera, we would have had an incident that day," Alexander said.

Alexander said administrators from other schools have visited Worthing to examine the system, one of the first in the Houston area.

"We're not saying by any stretch of the imagination that we've got it licked," Alexander said.

"But we feel we are on top of it."

Government

cally be cut as wasteful, according to the poll.

If implemented, Gore's plan would reduce the federal work force by 12 percent, bringing it below the 2 million mark for the first time since 1966.

It is unclear how much money would be saved by the reduction in workers. Officials said $22 billion of the $108 billion in projected savings would come from changing the way government buys supplies and services. Another $5.4 billion would be saved by modernizing the government's computer and information services and $3.3 billion by simplifying paperwork for grant programs to state and local governments.

Here are some of the expected recommendations:

• Conduct an 18-month review and report to Congress on closing and consolidating civilian federal offices.

• Eliminate the Food Safety and Inspection Service by consolidating all food safety responsibilities under the Food and Drug Administration.

• Transfer law enforcement functions of the Drug Enforcement Administration to the FBI.
