

Student Body President

Zac Coventry '02

Agricultural Development

Howdy! My name is Zac Coventry. I am a senior agricultural development major from Quitman, Texas, and a proud member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2002. I am running for student body president because I dream of an Aggieland that is one in spirit & purpose. My number-one goal as student body president is building unity among the students of Texas A&M. My motto for the upcoming year is: all that matters is what we do as a team.

This campus is a beautiful mosaic comprised of individuals from diverse beliefs and backgrounds. Each spirit contributes to the fire that makes this campus unique. Our flame is one of pride and integrity, sparked by the passion and dedication of its students. I realize that the only way to truly lead is to understand and respect the importance of each individual's contribution.

My priority at this University is your voice. My vision for Aggieland is one of unity, progress and hope. I want your help to accomplish this dream. My campaign for student body president is a humble hope that I may be a servant. Thank you for making Aggieland my home. Gig'em and God bless.

Finance

I am excited about the opportunity to serve as student body president and represent students and their interests as we lead Texas A&M with a new vision. That new vision is one of preserving the past, promoting the present and pursuing the future.

Preserving the past means that although Texas A&M is changing, the tradition that the University is based on remains the same. As A&M changes, there are things that hold special significance that represent the entire heritage of A&M. These traditions are not just witnessed, but experienced and deeply felt, becoming part of each Aggie whose life they touch.

We must promote unity on campus. Each student at Texas A&M has the right to be respected as a unique individual. Our similarities and our differences bind us together in ways only an Aggie can understand. We must pursue a positive future for Aggieland as we strive to develop a community of respect. I have proven my leadership in various organizations, and am ready to use that experience to provide a vision for this University. I ask for your support, so that together we can make a commitment to forming a campus based on tradition and a community of respect.

VP FOR OPERATIONS

Suzanne Hill
Howdy, my name is Suzanne Hill and I am a senior meteorology major from San Antonio, but more importantly I am the proudest member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2002.
I am running for vice president of operations for RHA. I am currently the national communication coordinator for RHA, president of National Residence Hall Honorary and president of SpenceKiest Hall.

I have dedicated four years of my life to RHA, and feel that I am very qualified. I will bring new perspective to RHA, and work to build a stronger community on campus. Thanks and gig'em.

VP FOR PROGRAMS

Rex Williams
I am a proud member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2003 and a proud resident of Hart Hall. I am running for RHA vice president of Programs because RHA needs strong leadership to continue its tradition in success.
If elected, I intend to promote hall unity by increasing the awareness of RHA programs and activities. During my time in RHA, I have been involved in activities such as Residence Hall Judicial Board and Hall of the Year Committee, and I am currently serving as exec-n-rec relations co-chair. I would love the opportunity to continue to serve the on-campus residents.

Geoff Keogh
I am here to talk about something that is very important to me and something that I hope you value also, Aggie unity. I am running for RHA vice president of programs to promote unity within the on-campus community.
On-campus Aggies represent a huge chunk of the students at Texas A&M University, especially new members of our Aggie family. Through effective programming I can work with the RHA to help create an Aggie experience that will promote tradition, unity and excitement for all residence hall residents, which will add to their time on campus.

Cyndy Beezley
Howdy, my name is Cyndy Beezley and I am the proudest member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2005! As an experienced senator, I believe that improving relations between the student body and student government is extremely important. I was appointed to Senate the first semester of my freshman year, and was director of public relations second semester. I have participated in the Horsemen's Association, COSGA, and am a 2002 Fish Camp counselor. It has been an honor to be a part of Senate this year, and I look forward to many more years of service at Texas A&M.

Traditionally when someone would simply breathe the words "College of Agriculture," immediate thoughts of respect, prominence and unity came to mind. It is my sincere desire to uphold, promote and maintain these characteristics. Being blessed with the opportunity to serve as a senator would allow me the opportunity to serve. I truly believe that in order to lead we must first be willing to serve. During the changing times here at our University, together as College of Agriculture and Life Sciences majors we can and we will stay true to each other, as Aggies should be.

Dustin Kinder
President John F. Kennedy once said, "We stand today on the edge of a new frontier." Today, we are standing on that frontier; with the 125th anniversary of our University. A&M now presents itself with even more challenges and opportunities that will not only provide a chance to better us (the students), but also our University.

As a student senator, I would do my best to represent the voice of the students by presenting them with opportunities and helping them overcome the challenges that face them.

When you attend a university such as Texas A&M, you can't help but feel a sense of deep pride and admiration. It is hard to imagine that each of us are a small part of something so great. I hope that another term on the Senate will allow me to make an impact not only presently, but in the years to come. It is my goal and sole purpose to represent the views and concerns of not only those students of the College of Agriculture & Life Sciences but everyone who is a part of the Aggie family.

COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE

Travis H. Taylor
Howdy! My name is Travis Taylor. I am a proud member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2003 and a member of the Corps of Cadets, Company D-2. I am a landscape architecture and urban planning major from Anchorage, Alaska. I have lived my entire life in Alaska, but am proud to call Aggieland my home. While attending Texas A&M University, I have experienced many new things. I look forward to giving something back to the University by representing the student body as the College of Architecture student senator.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Jessica Campbell
Howdy, my name is Jessica Campbell and I am excited to be running for the College of Business seat in the Student Senate. God has truly blessed me by being able to be a senator this past year, and now I feel I know what is expected from my position. Through Senate I have participated in passing much needed legislation, and am currently working on items I hope to see implemented next year. Also the College of Business has been so successful and I would be proud to represent those students needs and wants for the future. Please remember to vote for me, Jessica Campbell, to represent the Lowry Mays College of Business in the upcoming year.

Howdy, I am the proudest member of the fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2004. Over the past year as a business senator, I worked with many people to make Texas A&M a better place now and in the future. I am seeking re-election because I would like to see better communication between students and the administration, more scholarships offered from the University and a coffee shop on West Campus. I have always believed that all it takes is one person to make a big difference, and I want to continue to make a difference at Texas A&M.

Logan Renfrow
Howdy! I am Logan Renfrow, and I am majoring in business management. My goals are to represent the ideas and be a voice for the business students in the Student Senate. I want to stay in communication with my constituents to know their thoughts so that I can better represent them. Specifically, I want to work with food services to place a coffee kiosk in the West Campus Library. I like to work hard and be a voice for people. I have done this in the 54th session of the Student Senate, and I want to continue to do this in the 55th session. Thanks and gig'em!

Olcay Kaplan
Howdy! My name is Olcay Kaplan. I am an industrial engineering major from Turkey and a proud member of the Class of 2003. I currently serve as a student senator of the College of Engineering and I am running for re-election.

My goals include working closely with engineering societies to address their problems, providing more scholarship opportunities, improving student-professor relations and the effectiveness of professor evaluations, increasing the networking between students and companies and providing high quality student services.
My international view, leadership involvement and experiences will help me to provide a multicultural perspective in the Senate. Thanks and gig'em!

Brent Maddux
I am running for one and only one reason and that is because I think the College of Geosciences is the best college at A&M. I have enjoyed representing the college for the last year and look forward to doing so next year. I want to get better student services and academic support (e.g. study and social lounges, bus routes, etc.) for our college through my position as student senator. I hope to better open the lines of communication between the students, the faculty and the administration to help facilitate improvements in our college.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Patrick Keegan
I am running for the Student Senate as an advocate for the student body on an open platform in order to identify and exploit opportunities for new services. I plan to enroll students in student government issues and policies in order to integrate information from all sources to develop a well-informed, diverse perspective that can be used to optimize policy making. I plan to use my extensive experience from dealing with municipal politics in Houston to clearly and quickly work through the complexity of key issues, problems and opportunities.

Cassie Patterson
My principal goal if re-elected as a liberal arts senator, is to improve the relationship between constituents and student government. This includes promoting more student forums and surveys in order to broaden the lines of communication and better serve the constituents' needs. I plan to continue my work toward including Italian as a minor program as well as expanding the fine arts program. I also intend to continue the Senate's hard work on improving communication skills for teaching assistants. I have desire and conviction to represent the students at A&M and to work toward resolving the issues that arise.
