CELEBRATE EASTER 2002

MARCH 31 FREE ADMISSION

REED ARENA FREE PARKING

CASUAL DRESS

Hosted by your friends at Central Baptist Church

AGGIELAND VISITOR CENTER

Student Worker/Tour Guide Positions Available

at the Aggieland Visitor Center First Floor, Rudder Tower

Applications are available and accepted March 19- April12, 2002

For more details, call 845-5851

Looking for Formal Wear. Gowns, Shoes, Handbags?

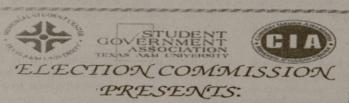

for Ladies and Children for Men 3800 S. Texas Ave. Bryan, TX 77802 (979) 846-3679

3808-B S. Texas Ave. Bryan, TX 77802 (979) 846-4868

www.area-wide.com

Store hours: 10am - 6:00pm Monday - Friday 10 am - 5:00 pm Saturday

Major credit cards accepted

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTIAL DEBATE

Tuesday, March 26, 2002 Bush Library at 7:00 p.m. MSC CIA reception following the debate

Peace Corps is a 2-year program with opportunities in more than 70 nations. Talk to Recruiter and Former Volunteer Dr. Nelson Jacob at Texas A&M University Career Center Library • 209 Koldus Bldg.

Mondays 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Wednesdays 2 to 4 p.m.

To set up an appointment, call 979-777-8075 or e-mail him at peacecorps@tamu.edu

www.peacecorps.gov • 1-800-424-8580 fewer recall drinking to excess while in high school. Yet binge drinking on college campuses is still as common as it was in the early 1990s, a new Harvard study shows.

lege students are living in substance-free residence halls, and

The survey by the Harvard School of Public Health found 44 percent of college students admitted binge drinking within the previous two weeks - the same percentage found in a

"It's part of the American college culture," Nicholas Pasquale, 20, a sophomore at University, said Sunday. "I don't know of any college where a large part of the student body isn't drinking on weekends.'

Flier

Continued from page 1

interest of student government or class councils," Sarandis said.

All candidates must submit their campaign materials to the commission for approval. Dubberly alleged the practice is a blatant violation of candidates' free speech rights, and refused to take down his flyers.

"They (election commission) knew what they were doing was unlawful," Dubberly said.

Sarandis declined to discuss why she reversed her decision, but said she was satisfied with Dubberly's explanation of why the flier's content was not inappropriate.

"Its an ongoing process," Sarandis said. "If candidates feel that certain fines were unfair, they can always come talk to me and we'll work through it.'

More than 30 of the 125 candidates in the student election have submitted campaign material with inappropriate content, Sarandis said. Dubberly is the only candidate to have fines dropped and previously censored campaign material approved

However, the survey also found that universities had made efforts over the past decade to change that culture.

Harvard study shows binge without having to revise the flier's content,

"Who's your daddy? Me. And I make damn

cool t-shirts. Pimpin' for the best damn

The leaflet in question contains the text

I hope other candidates stand up against this censorship and that they change this rule for

- Shannon Dubberly

2004 Vice President candidate

future Aggies.

class...fightin' Texas Aggie Class of 2004."

campaign candidates were informed that curse words, including "damn" and "hell"

would be censored, along with sexual innuendo and trademark violations. Election rules adopted by the student senate do not include any guidelines for censoring cam-

Sarandis said that at the outset of the drinking part of college life?

About 65 percent more college students said they were living in substance-free residence halls and being exposed to alcohol awareness education. Also, fewer students said they were members of fraternities and sororities, where reported binge drinking rates have been the highest. A growing number of students said they abstain from drinking altogether — 19.3 per-cent, up from 16.4 percent eight years ago.

Kelilah Miller, 19, a Boston University freshman, said she does not hang around with people who drink and questioned how much of a public health issue binge drinking is.

Sarandis said.

bility to protect people from themselves?" she asked.

The Harvard survey questioned 10,000 students at 119 four-year colleges, and defined binge drinking as four or more drinks in a row for women, or five or more for men.

Out of the traditional college students who drink - 18to 23-year-olds not living with their parents — seven out of 10 said they had met that definition of binge drinking in the past 30 days.

"That's a staggering number," said Henry Wechsler, director of College Alcohol Studies at Harvard School of Public Health and lead investigator on the study

"Before, we didn't see positive trends at the same time as the continuation of the hi rate," Wechsler said Fr 'We didn't see this kind illogical presence of trends should lead to lower rates;

continuing high rate." This, to us, indicar strong forces are continu support this level of drinking campus," he said. "Those tors need to be addresse policies that colleges take." The University of Vermo Burlington, one of 10 col taking part in an Ame Medical Association-led tive to curb binge dri found when it joined the gram in 1997 that 65 perce all students admitted l drinking, said A Flewelling, director of the versity's program. That nu is now at 64 percent.

paign materials, leaving the election com missioner with complete discretion determine what is appropriate. Dubberly said the commission's dec sion underscores the unfairness and arb trary nature of the campaign rules. Me attention and public pressure forced to commission to do the right thing Dubberly said, but the commission contin ues to violate the free speech rights other candidates.

"I hope other candidates stand against this censorship and that they chan this rule for future Aggies," Dubberly said

Dubberly said he had been contacted the American Civil Liberties Union (ACL) lawyers who offered to file an injunction federal court to prevent the election comm sion from disqualifying him, and added the the ACLU stood ready to defend other canddates who wanted to challenge the election commission's censorship.

The issues raised by this controvers may prompt the student senate to exami and consider revising the election rules

Student elections will be held Marc

Bonfire

Continued from page 1

of the student body as possible when finding something the students will accept, she said.

She hopes to give students a chance to speak at forums and have representatives on a committee to work with student leaders in finding an activity that will build leadership.

"Bonfire has definitely left a hole on our campus, and it's important to fill that, not with another tradition, but with activities that can build leadership and provide the meaning that was behind Bonfire,' Pringle said.

SBP candidate Coventry plans to do whatever he can to work actively for the safe return of the tradition to Texas A&M. He said he understands from experience what Bonfire was and what it represented from working on the

"I am absolutely passionate about the Fightin' Texas Aggie Bonfire," Coventry said. "It represents the undying spirit that all Aggies have for Texas A&M."

The possible initial return of Bonfire may not be exactly what students remember or are hoping for, but Coventry believes that the process will be one of give-and-take, making a reference to playing dominoes. You don't win in one hand, he said, you get a little bit at a time.

The best opportunity to bring back Bonfire will be to start with a clean slate and remake the tradition, said Coventry, a senior agricultural development major. He hopes to involve a greater number of students from throughout the A&M student body.

Although students and student government working together will be essential in reviving the tradition, the new University president, along with the administration, will play a key role in the future of Bonfire, Coventry said.

"I think we need to wait and is and then adapt to that and decide our approach," he said.

Coventry is excited about the possibility of Bonfire's return in 2003 and has collaborated with current and former students about ways to reduce the risk factor by using safer methods. For 2002, however, he has come up with a competition he calls the "Old Army Bonfire Skills Challenge.'

"Around the time we w have Bonfire, when we t.u., (we could) have a car wide competition of al skills related to Bor Coventry said.

Intended to fill some void left by Bonfire's abs the event would be a con tion between student grou campus in events such a carrying, tug-of-war and men's carry.

Coventry expressed his cern with students intendi build off-campus bonfires, ing that doing so would sh lack of unity among the dents of A&M. Though understands the frustrations dents have with Boni absence, he believes that sh ing together is more impor He would not support off-car pus bonfires.

THE TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY STUDENT MEDIA BOARD IS ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS FOR

Editor

Health

Business

Education

Agriculture

Construction

Environment

Information

Technology

Community

All Majors

Welcome

Development

Summer 2002

May 27 through Aug. 12, 2002)

Aug. 19 through Dec. 13, 2002)

Qualifications for editor in chief of The Battalion are:

- Be a Texas A&M student in good standing with the University and enrolled in at least six credit hours (4 if a graduate student) during the term of office (unless fewer credits are required to
- Have at least a 2.00 cumulative grade point ratio (3.00 if a graduate student) and at least a 2.00 grade point ratio (3.00 if a graduate student) in the semester immediately prior to the appointment, the semester of appointment and semester during the term of office. In order for this provision to be met, at least six hours (4 if a graduate student) must have been taken for
- · Have completed JOUR 301 (Mass Communication, Law and Society), or equivalent;
- Have at least one year experience in a responsible editorial position on The Battalion or comparable daily college newspaper,
 OR –

Have at least one year editorial experience on a commercial newspaper, – OR –

Have completed at least 12 hours journalism, including JOUR 203 and 303 (Media Writing I and II), and JOUR 304 (Editing for the Mass Media), or equivalent.

Editor AGGIELAND

Qualifications for editor in chief of the Aggieland yearbook are:

- Be a Texas A&M student in good standing with the University and enrolled in at least six credit hours (4 if a graduate student) during the term of office (unless fewer credits are required to
- Have at least a 2.00 cumulative grade point ratio (3.00 if a graduate student) and at least a 2.00 grade point ratio (3.00 if a graduate student) in the semester immediately prior to the appointment, the semester of appointment and semester during the term of office. In order for this provision to be met, at least six hours (4 if a graduate student) must have been taken for that semester;
- Have completed JOUR 210 (Graphics) and JOUR 301 (Mass Communication, Law and Society), or equivalent
- Have demonstrated ability in writing through university coursework or equivalent experience;
- Have at least one year experience in a responsible position on the Aggieland or comparable

Application forms should be picked up and returned to Francia Cagle, Student Media business coordinator, in Room 014A Reed McDonald Building. Deadline for submitting application: noon Wednesday, April 3, 2002. Applicants will be interviewed during the Student Media Board Meeting beginning at 2 p.m. Friday, April 5, 2002, in room 221F Reed McDonald. An Affirmative Action / Equal Opportunity Employer Committed to Diversity gling to unite of diversity. e depiction of , racist, bigote ut as true of Mus cowboy or gan icans. Presid stantly warned ist terrorism is sts, not Islam. subject and Judice and hatre

idsed pe

sponse to J

ch 22 column:

am not an Aral

my degree of

cle is unmatche

ared the Musli

crisy and pla

this article is fi gs! Jones con

of a USA Toda o meet his ov ng so, brings Internal strife of bigotry

erica is i ually, America in its by internatio pressure, and m, as well as ement. Gallup nk Newport, who ey, states tha nelmingly o led States as "ri conceited, a oked, and bias am appalled at rarticle, they are

o countries a ard for America ning the Mide ian subcontinent