Wrecking Crew dominates offense at chilly practice

The Texas A&M football team continued its spring practice on Monday in less than spring-like conditions. The Aggies practiced in full pads for about two hours in cold, windy, drizzly weather.

Among the players not practicing were running back Joe Weber, who pulled a hamstring during Friday's scrimmage, and defensive lineman Marcus Jasmine, who sprained a shoulder also in the scrimmage. Linebacker Jarrod Penright also did not suit up for practice.

One former member of the team braved the weather to watch practice as Ja'Mar Toombs was on hand to watch the Aggies.

Defense rules the day

The Wrecking Crew definitely got the upper hand on the day as the defense dominated the 11-on-11 scrimmages the team had toward the end of practice.

The first part of the scrimmage the Aggie offense worked on simulated third-and-two plays and had mixed results.

Dustin Long and Mark Farris completed passes to Jamar Taylor for first downs, but the offense went nowhere running the ball.

The first six running plays, the Aggies had a fumble and no first down. On the seventh run, Dwain Goynes finally got the offense a first down as he hit the corner for a 30-yard gain.

If the success was mixed for the offense on the third-and-two drill, it was non-existent on the goal-line drill.

Both the first and second team offenses had five shots to score from the 3-yard line and they turn it around and get it going again," Johnson said. "I think some of it is the opponents. If their pitcher is struggling or gets behind in the count or can't establish a breaking pitch, that matters. A lot of slumps in baseball happen because of what your opponents have done."

Scoring runs early in games has also been a key ingredient in Aggie wins. A&M is 11-2 when owning the lead after the third inning, and the importance of that is twofold. Jumping ahead early allows the pitchers to be more relaxed when they throw.

"It's really good to get runs right off the bat," said junior first baseman Travis Wong. "The pitchers really like that too. They get a little bit more comfortable and can pitch better. Whenever we've got a lead, with our pitching, we are confident that they will keep us in it."

SPRING Football FOLDER

failed on all 10 tries. The failure for the offense was the defense's gain as they left practice on time while the offense had to stick around to work its Perfection drill.

"We had a goal-line scrimmage and it's all about winning and losing," said A&M head coach R.C. Slocum. "Today, I thought the defense got the upper hand and so the offense got some extra work."

Bringing the wood

There were two candidates for hit of the day on Monday.

In 7-on-7 drills, tight end Thomas Carriger caught a ball over the middle and turned and plowed over safety Ronald Jones which drew "oohs" and "aahs" from the players.

The second hit came in the goal-line drills as Long tried to run an option to the right but was immediately met by defensive lineman Johnny Jolly who knocked Long back and buried him.

The numbers game

The number jumping by A&M players continued on Monday as more players switched jersey numbers. Safety Terrance Kiel, who had switched from 48 to 8 to begin the spring, switched back to his original number of 48. Wide receiver John Roberson took Kiel's number 8 and quarterback Jason Carter, who was number 13, took Roberson's old number 7.

Among the other changes were safety Jaxson Appel who switched from 36 to 19 and offensive lineman Dominique Steamer who went from 70 to 74.

at the plate, but she has also played errorless ball in the outfield and stolen eight bases for the Aggies.

Expected to contend for the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year, Gregory is shining in every aspect of her game and looking to make a mark for herself in the college softball world.

"She has both the intangibles and the physical ability to be a great player," Evans said. "She is a great athlete, and she always battles at the plate."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Softball hosts Northwestern State on Tuesday

The Texas A&M softball team plays Northwestern State in a double header Tuesday starting at 5 p.m. The Aggies (24-8, 0-2 Big 12) are trying to bounce back from a two game sweep at the hands of Oklahoma last weekend.

The Demons (24-17) took two of three games from Southland Conference rival Southwest Texas State over the weekend.

The Aggies own a 9-0 all-time record against NSU and defeated the demons twice last season.

A&M will return to Big 12 play this weekend when it travels to Ames, Iowa, for a two-game series against Iowa State.

Tyson-Lewis to face off on June 8

(AP) - Lennox Lewis and Mike Tyson will meet June 8 in Memphis for the heavyweight championship, under a deal wrapped up Monday night after weeks of on-again off-again negotiations.

Promoters were set to formally announced the agreement, which was finalized just before a deadline by the International Boxing Federation. Showtime cable network spokesperson Marina Capurro confirmed the fight was on.

The major stumbling block - a $12.5 million site fee - reportedly had been resolved earlier in the day but some details were still pending.

Among those details was an agreement on the champi- on himself that he would fight Tyson on the new date and location. Lewis reportedly agreed orally, but fight promoters were waiting for his signature before announcing the bout.
