Picture Description of A. and M.

Pictures give life to anything --a room, a book, or what not. The more pictures the better.

The "Pictorial Annual" which you have heard so much about is a beautiful picture description of the Texas A and M. College. Thirty-six photogravures and an artistic calendar of 1917 are used in designing the book.

The work is being done by the E. A. Wright Bank Note Company, of Philadelphia, who have a national reputation for this class of work. It is absolutely the best obtainable.

You can't afford to miss this chance to get your Christmas gifts. It will save you money, boost the college by showing the people what we have at A. and M., and then—if you are single, it might win you a "happy home"

M. B. Gibson, Editor.
