

WANTED.

Search light to see the target—First Class.

To pass—Second Class.

To remain permanently at College—Bruce and Abbott.

A day off—Gilbert.

Another Girl—Dinwiddie.

To take encazoal for poisons—Adams.
25,000 copies of Commencement BATTALION—The visitors at commencement.

A new hand—Pittuck.

To get funny—Coulter and Mouser.

A better aim—Luckett.

More to eat on staff table—Staff.

Another horse for the cadets—Commandant.

To be a ladies' man—Peters.

More lectures in English—First Class.

To write short hand; to take lectures under Prof. Nagle—Second Class.

More brick for Luckett's mouth; last order was not enough—A. and M. College.

Opera glasses at 25 cents—First Class B. S. A's.

To quit getting "rams"—Jim Coulter.

To be a "tactitioner"—Jim Abbott.

To be an actor—Gross.

To be drum major—Mathews.

To pass in algebra—McMillan.

To make his debut—Fitzgerald B.

A Commencement BATTALION—Every Cadet.

To take a plunge in the natatorium—Everybody.

To be excused from shop practice—Second Class B. C. E's.

His brass button, which was lost, strayed or stolen near the vicinity of College; has initial M on star; when last seen was not in possession of person for whom intended.—A Cadet.

Another violin string—"Schwebunk."

Another wagon and a pair of mules to go to town—First Class.

A 100 in tactics—Merriwether.

To sell razors and jewelry—Morse and Luckett.

Y. N. C. A. NOTES.

The Young Men's Christian Association of the A. and M. is prospering as as never before. Boys, come out to the Sudday afternoon meetings, from 1:45 to 2:45 p. m. We promise not to hold you over one hour.

The Ladies' Auxiliary committee lately elected have gone to work with a will, and we already have several treats promised us. The first occurred on the night of Easter Sunday.

The gymnasium is booming and the committee is at work. They have on the road a supply of new appliances to the gymnasium and have supplied lights, so that the gymnasium may be used every night before study call and on Friday nights.

Our Response.

Immediately after supper on the evening of March 12, the Second Class met in the Assembly hall for the purpose of electing one of its number to respond to the valedictory address to be delivered at commencement. Mr. Mills called the house to order and was elected chairman by acclamation. Mr. Duggan was then elected secretary. After a few brief remarks about the object of the meeting, etc., by the chairman, and several very nice talks from different members of the