H. L. WRIGHT.

As the Alumni only know me from from my matriculation, let my biography begin from there. First, let me acknowledge with thanks the increasing kindness shown me during my three years of college life by the faculty, of which I believe only Profs. Whitlock and Smith remain, and to these two offer my best wishes for their good work to continue. After graduating at the June '86 Commencement, I came to this city on a visit to my sisters and brothers, where I spent two weeks meditating over past events and planning over the future. Thence I went to Dallas Texas and accepted a position in the engineering department of the G. C. & S. F. railroad, where I remained six or seven weeks when I went to the Missouri Pacific in the same capacity and worked for about thirteen months. I then returned here and continued in the service of the Missouri & Pacific railway between this point and Little Rock, Ark., for some time. Finally severing my connection with said company and entering into business in this city on October 5th, 1888. At the time last mentioned I accepted a position with George W. Burkett, the well-known railway contractor, having a general oversight of his business, which I held until June 1, 1892, when I accepted the management of this, the Palestine Water and Power Co., which I still have the pleasure to hold. Aside from this I am secretary of the Palestine Loan Association and the Mechanics' Building and Loan Association, and do a fair fire insurance business. But I have only briefly told you of the business side of my career since graduating, and said nothing of the social side. There is but little to tell you of this, as business men have but little time for the "society" side of life, more especially young men who must needs ascend the scale of success by their own efforts. On May 9th, 1890 I was married to a lady of this city, went immediately to housekeeping and we still live happily in our little home, having two children to share our joys and sorrows.

I notice that I have been carried in the catalogue as engineer; in the future, or until further notice, please put me down as manager of the Palestine Water and Power Co. Best wishes to the Battalion, and kindest regards to the Alumni.

Yours Fraternally,

H. L. WRIGHT.
