

noon train. Bob is a whole team in himself.

H. J. McNair, '87, of Navasota, made a business-like talk at our public meeting in which he expressed some sound, solid thoughts. By his genial manners and sterling qualities he won many friends here. Come again, Harry.

L. J. Kopke, C. E. '80, chief engineer of the Gulf, Beaumont and Kansas City Railway Company, was here, and we hope the occasion gave him as much pleasure as his presence afforded his friends.

J. R. Downs, '79, of Waco, was prevented from coming by important cases in court.

F. A. Reichardt, '79, of Houston, sent his dollar for annual dues, but his efforts to secure the election of a free silver candidate in a gold district left him no time for other matters. Eh, Frank?

Judge Charles Rogan, '79, of Brownwood, after promising to come, for some yet unexplained cause failed to put in an appearance. The past has shown the judge to be a warm supporter of the college to some purpose, and his absence must have some very good cause.

Among others who sent their dollar for annual dues and expected to be here we mention the long, lank and eloquent E. Y. Mullins, '79, of Newton Center, Mass.; Capt R. L. Nichols, '79, of Smithville; Dr. E. G. Cochran, '79, Greenville; T. H. Brown, '79, of Waco; C. S. Miller, '80, of Ballinger; W. H. Brown, '80, of Navasota; while among those about whom many inquiries were made were: Colonel K. M. Van Zandt, '79, of Fort Worth; E. E. Fitzhugh, '80, of Waco; M. F. Armstrong, '82, Chappell Hill; Dr. J. M. Burford, '82, of Independence; J. R. Cravens, '82, of Dallas.

A. Miller Todd, the sober captain of old Company I in '94, was here. Miller, since graduation, has been constantly with the government engineers on the Mississippi river, and by his abilities has won the confidence of those placed above him. He is an "Arkansawer" at Arkansas City.

Will Dazy informs us that he will hang out his shingle in Fort Worth ere long. Last May he graduated in dentistry from Vanderbilt University.

M. S. Sewell has recently engaged in the gents' furnishing goods business at McGregor. He was fortunate enough to meet the old boys and took a full hand in all romps. He is second only to Bill Pittuck in a pillow fight.

W. Ford Rose is a skillful draughtsman and an esteemed
