

Lieutenant Emory, of Baylor University, had followed the company on the drill ground to see if there was anything in the boast that the Rosses as a military company stood first not only in Texas or the South, but in the United States. Although the boys were not aware that they were being graded, the keen eye of a West Pointer could detect but one slight mistake out of one hundred and seventeen movements., making a score of 98.3 out of a possible 100.

Gallant Captain Bittle deserves much credit for the great success of the company.

The following officers of the two societies were elected for the first term of next session:

CALLIOPEAN.

Kyle A., President.
 Todd, Vice President.
 Barnes, Critic.
 Greenwood, Censor.
 Rogers, Recording Secretary.
 Ragsdale, Sergeant-at-Arms.
 Luckett, Librarian.

AUSTIN.

Bryan, President.
 Solyer, Vice President.
 Rollins, Critic.
 Harrison, Censor.
 McCarthy, Recording Secretary.
 McGee, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The following officers were elected by the two societies to represent the Battalion next session:

A. J. Kyle, Business Manager.
 Overshiner, Editor-in-Chief.
 Todd, Greenwood, Harrison W. A., Associate Editors.

THE BUGLE CALLS.

To the casual visitor at the college one of its most interesting peculiarities as a military school is the custom of summoning the students to their duties by bugle calls. These are often very melodious, and no one who hears "Taps," "Adjutant's Call," or "Reveille," is apt to forget it.

For the cadet who is daily awakened by rattling notes of "Reveille" or summoned to drill in his company or among the Bartlett Regulars by the peremptory sound of "Drill," the bugle calls lose some of their charm; and he frequently