A receipt to get married, was what a young man applied for to the clerk of a court in a North Pacific town.

As leap year will come, a good many young men are procuring bogus marriage certificates to carry about their persons as a means of protection.

A family in this city have a dog twenty-five years old. He was originally a hound, but he has stayed with them so long that they could call him a tarrier.

Daughter—Don't be angry, papa, because the young man is going to marry me and take me away from you.

Father—Angry, my darling? Never. But I'll never forgive him if he ever does anything that causes you to come back to me again!"
