

The Southern Collegian, the college journal of the Washington and Lee University, comes to us for the first time this year. It is a well gotten up magazine of about 100 pages with much excellent reading matter. An oration, "What Shall be the Position of the South in the Union," is a fine effort of oratory.

Little Willie had a mirror,
 And he licked the back all off,
 Thinking in his childish error
 It would cure the whooping-cough.

At the funeral Willie's mother
 Smartly said to Mrs. Brown,
 It was a chilly day for Willie
 When the mercury went down.—Ex.

"The summer days so fair, so brief,
 Too soon have passed away,
 And left us in the changing leaf,
 The emblem of decay.—Ex.

If a man loves a woman who loves herself, then the woman loves the man.

Granted. The man loves the woman and the woman loves herself. Therefore, the woman loves the man. Ax. 1 (Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other).—Ex.
