

wounded heroes of the Philippine war.

The College band favored us with music at intervals, which did much to make the meeting successful. Thanks to this kind band and their able leader for this and past kindness.

We have since held two regular meetings that were quite satisfactory. We have doubled our membership over last year's number and seem to have the students interested more than ever before.

Furthermore we have a splendid Star Course of entertainments, consisting of the following:

Col. L. F. Copeland.—“Seeing the Elephant.”

Grecian Art Tableaux and Concert Company.

Mr. E. V. Cooke.—“Pot Luck With a Poet.”

Mr. E. P. Brown.—“In the Spectacle Business.”

Judge Alfred Fellison.—“Boys Wanted.”

Dr. T. H. Dinsmore.—“A Wonderful Structure.”

Mozart Symphony Club.

Doubtless some of the best talent on the stage is comprised in this course. The student that does not attend these lectures is robbing himself of an opportunity not met with every day. Think of this, fellow-students, and let us see all of you out. Those of you who have heard Col. Copeland know that it is worth your time to listen to these entertainments.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR LECTURE TICKETS.

Subscribe for THE BATTALION. $1.00 a year.

Additional Local Items.

Taylor L. is looking for some one to take him out in the woods and see if he can make 120 steps per minute.

Go to Maxie for shoestrings.

Greeves says he has lost his Lemon.

Ask McCormick about “squirrel up a tree” and green peanuts.

What did Biering find in his mouth at the depot?

Taylor L. and Daisy! Daisy Daisy!

Griffiths has returned to his old business—selling ribbons and tin horns.

Scherer says he will not give his trust fund to the benefit of football. He must have the money for his diploma.

Wonder what is the matter with Melgaard?