

that is no excuse for breaking doors and chairs, and it will not be long before the new hall is finished, then you will have plenty of room and there will be no earthly excuse for tearing up property.

WE are glad to hear that the gymnasium is going to be repaired. We long to see this work completed, so that we can spend a few hours there, giving that exercise to our bodies which is essential to good health and to our developing into good, physical men at the same time that we are training ourselves to become intellectual men.

It makes our hearts leap with joy to see the number of young aspirants out on the gridiron every evening, trying for places on our football team. Oh, how we watch with eager eyes the improvements being made in this line! Coach Murray certainly understands football, and he has the gift of imparting that knowledge to others and of making expert football players out of them. It inspires us to much greater efforts to see the College pride that is manifested in the corps; but still more interest can be shown, and we hope the boys will put their shoulders to the wheel and push with all their might. We want to beat 'Varsity, and have a chance to do so, if the boys will unite and help us out. Organize your rooting clubs and practice the College yells, get together and don't stand back because you are not one of the players; you can do lots towards winning a game by cheering your team from the side lines. Oh, how it makes a player's heart leap, and with what vigor he dives into the plays, determined to win or die, when he sees his school mates on the side lines appreciating his efforts and doing all in their power to cheer him on to victory! Boys, the 'Varsity game lies in your hands. Give us the proper support and we will win.

It is surprising to see how little class spirit is being exhibited in our College this year. The four classes should have organized at very beginning of school, but for the lack of time and the great interest taken in football it has thus long been postponed. Last year every class was firmly organized, governed by a constitution, had their own yells and distinguished by their own set of colors. This is as it should be—be proud of your class and let everybody know that you are so and will stay with it through thick and thin. The first class is the only one which has organized thus far. The following are the officers: W. S. Bryan, Pres.; Wm. Walden,
