

THE BATTALION.

directed plays shoved it over for a touch-down. The ball was called back and given to Tulane however, on their four-yard line for off-side play. This seemed to arouse them, and on Tulane's attempted kick they tore through the line, blocked the ball and Thrower fell on it for a touch-down. Schultz kicked goal. Tulane put up a clever defense, but should not have been able to stop A & M's powerful plays had the latter's players performed their duty by all getting into the play. Her offense was nothing remarkable, though several times her backs got away for good gains before being downed. Simpson displayed a lack of generalship in directing the work of the team, clinging too closely to line plunges when the line refused to open up for the runner, while the ends could be skirted with comparative ease. The first half ended with the score 6 to 0 in favor of A. & M. During the intermission the coach collected the team and read them the riot act for apparently beneficial results, for they went into the game in the second half and literally "tore things." Dwyer took his place at left half and played a beautiful game, getting around the ends for some long runs. A. & M. had possession of the ball most of the time during this half, and her advance was irresistible, going through the line and around the ends almost at will, and but for a plentiful crop of jumbling the score must have been considerably larger. Schultz kicked a beautiful field goal from placement from the thirty-eight yard line. The Tulane boys played a clean, gentlemanly game, and had plenty of pluck. They are under the direction of Collier, the famous U. of Va. athlete, and will undoubtedly end the season strong. A. & M. can feel much pleased in winning from Tulane, who has always borne an excellent reputation in college athletics. It is to be hoped that this may be the beginning of a friendly rivalry and a closer athletic relationship between A. & M. College of Texas and Tulane University.

THANKSGIVING GAME WITH BAYLOR UNIVERSITY.

The home team defeated Baylor University foot-ball team of Waco by the very gratifying score of 33 to 0. The Baylor team was very heavy, but lacked a comprehensive knowledge of the game and exhibited poor team work. The game demonstrated the value of hard training and constant coaching, for while the Baylor boys were big and strong, so that as far as natural gifts went, had perhaps the advantage of the College boys, it was the knowledge of the intricacies of the game, their physical condition and team work, all that goes to make a successful foot-ball team, where College showed her superiority over the Baylor boys. Often the game was delayed because the Baylor boys were unable to keep up with the pace set by the A. & M. team, and fell exhausted on the field, and the score might have been much larger had A. & M. taken advantage of the good breeze to punt oftener in the first half. As it was she had the ball almost all the time, and wore her men out early in the game, plunging them through the line. Baylor, when she had the ball, could do nothing with the strong defense of the home team. Her defense was not much better than her
