

instructors would help us there is no doubt but what a good record would be established—that no one but honorable, upright and conscientious gentlemen would be allowed at the A. & M. of Texas.

On Friday evening, March 17th, the Corps of Cadets and the College Community were treated to one of the most pleasant entertainments it has been our good fortune to attend. We allude to the amateur concert under the direction and management of Mrs. J. G. Harrison. The persons participating were the ladies and gentlemen of the campus, known for their musical attainments, assisted by Mrs. W. S. Wilson and Mrs. Webb Howell of Bryan. Every number of the programme was delightfully rendered, calling for encores which were graciously responded to by the recipients. Mrs. Wilson, in response to an encore, gave an instrumental medley, closing with "Dixie Variations," which captured the boys. Mrs. Webb Howell gave for her first number "For All Eternity," and in response to an encore completely took us off our feet with "Telegraph My Baby." Miss Rita Sbisá and Miss Giesecke treated us to "Lutspiel's Overture," and Mrs. Giesecke sang a German song which was so captivating in its music that all of us were anxious to hear it in English. Prof. Atwood's bass solo was fine and the quartette composed of Messrs. Kerr, Brittle, Atwood and Beeman gave some of the prettiest music of the evening. We do not wish to be accused of partiality if we happen to give a large amount of praise to Prof. Miller. The boys showed their appreciation of his presence and his part of the performance in a manner very complimentary to the Professor. And he deserved it. In his appearance he was greeted with applause and he closed with applause, and when he rendered "Call Me Thine Own" with the expression that the beautiful music is capable of, the fine tones of his good cornet made the "kids" wild with enthusiasm.

Ask Hudgins W. how it feels to take an ice cold bath and then not get to go.

We advise the gentlemen who have been "going to the ball" on Saturday night to remain at home hereafter.

It is time to elect our committees for the commencement exercises. Let's us get out an A1 invitation and an excellent programme.

For information about "peach preserves" ask K. K. Hooper and the remainder of our young instructors. Could Tilson analyze it?

Quite a crowd of "our boys" went to Galveston to see the best of our nation's great men-of-war, and to take in the "Island City." Some have returned and report the greatest of great times.

We are indeed sorry to report the serious illness of Cadet Greeves. He is at home sick with pneumonia. It is earnestly hoped that he will soon recover and return as we wish to have him back with us.

Col. Edmunds' lecture the night of March 3rd. was enjoyed by a large number of students. The Colonel is a very interesting and enthusiastic speaker, and his stories are greatly enjoyed by everyone. Hope to hear you again, Colonel.

Cadets Elrod and Shaw visited Columbus on Washington's birthday. They left silently and returned promptly. Elrod seemed very much improved by the trip, but Shaw, for some reason,
