

••• LOCALS. •••

Ask Beeman where he got that chewing gum.

Mystery of the mess hall; or, who stole Abney's cush?

Ask Taylor L. why he didn't make that rennet test.

Ask Atkinson about the invitation he got from his girl.

For information on the English-Boer war go to Count Boettcher.

Storey has been studying a great deal about "Trigg" lately.

Ask Biering how he likes the 50 cent tea at the Exchange hotel.

Ask Scherer who discovered the meaning of mysterious letters.

Hoffman wants to know if Fungi is a branch of Texas cattle fever.

What little Seargent sings the song: "I'll Never Go Back Any More?"

Ask Tanner what part as an actor did Shakespeare play in "Hamlet."

We see that some of the officers have resigned their ranks. Wonder why?

Sam McConnico says one little word would have changed his future life.

Ask Moser why he don't like to dance with the girls. Queer boy, isn't he?

Sneed, H M., looking at the ensilage cutter, asked, "How do they milk cows with this?"

C. P. Rogers, one of our most eloquent orators will deliver the valedictory address.

The two Bean boys, Dysart and Corp. Giraud, have resigned from college.

Holzman, (pointing at a platinum pan) "Professor, how much is that little tin pan worth?"

Preston says the Corporal stripes sure look pretty; he wouldn't mind having a pair himself.

Lewis J. says that if sassafras has medicinal qualities it looks like it would be used for medicine.

Mack Wren made his debut into society a few days ago. He will probably be a leader. Look out for Mack.

Hudgins W. wants to know who is going to respond to the valedictorian for the third-class commencement.

Haberzettle, (To drawing professor) "Professor, do you use an irregular square to get this irregular curve?"

Fountain T. (To professor of mathematics) "Professor, do we have to memorize this table of logarithms?"

Judge Kittrell of Houston delivered an elegant address on "What the South Has Done For the World," to the student body on the 9th inst.

The entertainment given by the ladies of the campus on the 16th inst. consisted of a nicely arranged programme and was heartily enjoyed by all.

Hudgins (trying to get off report) "Sir, I was walking with a young lady."

Com'dt: You should be willing to suffer the consequences."