

kindly assisted by some of the campus laides and instructors, and is directed by Mr. E. W. Kerr.

In the evening the band gave a concert, and at 8 o'clock, in the Chapel, the Rev. Rr. Bowers of the Episcopal Church, of Bryan, delivered a most entertaining and instructive address before the Y. M. C. A. of the College. A large and appreciative audience attended and profited much by the intellectual repast served by the speaker.

Monday, June 11.

The second day dawned bright and

At 11 a. m. the joint celebration of the Austin and Calliopean Literary Societies, took place. Vice President Tay-

R. B. BOETTCHER, B. S. in M. E., of Weimar, Texas, entered college September, 1897. President Calliopean Literary Society; manager Track and Field Team; business manager of the "Battalion." Was promoted to First Lieutenant, Co. "A;" resigned and graduated as a private.

clear and the Campus was soon swarming with the crowds, who inspected the shops, creamery, live stock, farm machinery, apparatus and appliances for instruction, and the Cadets at work. Much surprise and interest was especially shown in the work by the students on exhibition. These consisted of turned work, of all kinds, miniature bridges, center tables, chains, tongs, etc., from all three of the departments.

W. A. BUHLER, B. S. in M. E., of Victoria, Texas, entered college in September, 1897. Was Second Lieutenant of the "Foster Guards;" and graduated as First Lieutenant Co. "C."

lor, of the Austin Society, welcomed the visitors to the College, in a neat little speech, followed by the orator of the day, J. N. Davis, Principal of the Hico High School. Mr. Davis' oration was liberally applauded, and much en-

H. FAUST, B. S. in M. E., of New Braunfels, Texas, entered college September, 1896. Graduated as First Lieutenant Co. "B."