STOCK JUDGING CONTEST AT SAN ANTONIO.

A prominent feature of the San Antonio fair was the stock judging contest. Prizes were offered by the fair association for the young men whose judging corresponded most closely to that of the regular judges in the cattle, sheep and swine classes.

There were eleven contestants, ten of whom were from the A. and M. college, having had the regular instruction in stock judging at that institution.

On Monday morning when the Shorthorn bull calves were brought into the ring the work was commenced. Contestants were given blank forms on which to record the way in which, in their estimation, premiums were awarded. They were also required to state their reasons for their decision. After they had finished the regular judge placed the cattle and the report of each competitor was compared with the decision of the judge. One hundred points were allowed for each class; if the animals were placed properly sixty points were allowed, and if reasons were considered correct and sufficient, a maximum of forty points were given. The procedure was similar in the work on sheep and swine. The standings of those who participated are shown in table.

First prize of $50 awarded to H. E. Hanna, Denison, Texas.
Second prize of $25 awarded to M. S. Church, McKinney, Texas.
Third prize of $15 awarded to V. H. Stubbs, Wortham, Texas.
Fourth prize of $10 awarded to T. C. Born, Corpus Christi, Texas.

MEETING OF FRESHMEN IN CHAPEL.

A meeting of the Freshman class was held in the chapel Thursday night. Capt. Sargent addressed them on matters pertaining to sentinel walking and on military duties in general. He gave them some very decided opinions on the subject of walking sentinel, telling them that no person was to be respected more than this soldier on his post. In regard to visiting, he said, in meaning, "You may visit, you are not committing any breach of honor when you do so, but you must run the risk. It is not visiting that will go against you, it is getting caught out of your room." After Captain Sargent's talk the Freshmen held a meeting and organized for this year. Officers were elected, and the class now stands very well organized.
