The Battalion wishes to announce that all locals will be thankfully received. Drop them in the Battalion box in the Main Building.

A startling discovery has been made by Cadet Reese, G. L. Upon looking in the glass one morning he discovered a hot air machine.

The Senior M. E.'s will shortly take a trip north to visit important chemical industries. How long they will stay is not yet determined.

All of the members of the Senior class have signed the Long Horn contract thereby placing themselves responsible for the payment of the same.

A man with a wagon load of bananas came out from Bryan one day this week and sold out in about an hour. The result was that the campus was strewn with banana peels.

Now our Freshman, Luther Jones, thinks he is entitled to a carver's seat because he held down a number four in the front rank one morning at breakfast.

Upon hearing Dr. Bittle's sermon last Sunday "Fish" Dorset said: "I ain't got nuffin' but a Testament here, and I'll be derned if I don't send home for a Bible."

Prof. Hagis: Mr. Crooks, if the atmosphere contained nothing but oxygen what would be the state of affairs?

Crooks: "We would lead a very fast life."

Dr. Bittle is thinking of publishing a book and crowding Mark Twain out of first place for the funniest writer on the globe. He feels sure that he would have the patronage of the Junior C. E.'s.

During the recent cold spell the ropes on the flag pole froze and resembled an elongated icicle. The flag also got its share of the ice and was beaten to pieces by the north wind. It now resembles Holmes' "tattered ensign."

The Battalion regrets to chronicle the death of Mr. B. L. Durst's father. Mr. Durst was called home some time last week. He has the sympathy of the entire corps of cadets. Mr. Durst returned to College Sunday.

Thursday night on the third stoop of Ross Hall a club was organized which will be known as the "P. E. C. of A. and M. College." Officers were elected and resolutions passed providing for the drawing up of a constitution and by laws.

A first-class production of Macbeth was shown at the Opera House in Bryan Wednesday and many of the cadets took in the show.

Some planters have gone wild on truck farming. Most of them have stayed in their old condition and still plant cotton. Some few have gone "hog wild" and they are making money. "Hog wild" men will never be "on the hog," as shown by a clipping from the Bryan Eagle: "Messrs. Carson and Smith, of College, who recently shipped a carload of hogs from their Brazos bottom plantation to Fort Worth are in receipt of a letter from the packers stating that the hogs were unusually fine and brought 5 cents more per hundred than the top of the market for the best hogs sold the same day in Kansas City and Chicago. The letter clearly indicates two things: First, that this section of the state cannot be excelled for hog raising; and second that Texans have a home market that can be relied upon."
