ost enthusiastic me Monday was His excellency, brilliantly uni- d for the team iasm as the most er, when the A. re at their black- ose and addressing the students, said:

 "Don't let them beat you, boys. Hold steady and fight for every yard. Remember you are upholding the foot- ball supremacy of this grand old state, and I—all of us—want to see you win. You will win—you must win." Cheers drowned him out, but when it subsided, he continued:
 "If you need help, put me in as center rush or fullback, or wherever you need me, and I will help you score a victory."

THE FARMER BRIGADE.
 Forward, the Farmer brigade!
 Valiant eight hundred,
 Policemen to the right of them,
 Policemen to the left of them,
 Shouted and thundered!
 Daunted not by threat of men,
 Thinking only of A. and M.,
 Feeling that the game was won,
 Out they swarmed the course to run,
 And circle 'round the field!

Cheer the victor team!
 Winners for A. and M.
 Strong teams gone down before them,
 High scores piled up behind them
 While all the West wondered.
 Playing hard and playing fair,
 See them send that ball in air.
 Pitted against the winning teams,
 Watch them crush their cherished dreams—
 Southwestern champions!
