Industrious Daughter—Father, may I go to college and take a post-graduate course in biology?

Wise Father—Well, that all depends upon what you want to buy first.—Galveston News.

A butcher knife was found in the chemistry lecture room, freshly sharpened as if the original owner intended to use it for the annihilation of the department on account of such ill deeds of which we all "wot." Doubtless the owner of said villainous article of warfare would, by opening proper negotiations with the present possessor, be able to repossess the aforesaid piece of cutlery.

Visitor—Is Professor Blake in?
Mrs. Blake—Yes; he is in the laboratory performing an experiment. He hopes to go down to posterity—
(From laboratory: Br-r-r s-s-s-s—bang!)
Visitor—I hope Professor Blake hasn't gone!
