THE SIMPLICITY OF COLLEGE LIFE

ometry, or physics. Each of these would afford entertainment for days in succession to the average individual. But when one enters A. and M. his capacities for enjoyment are so greatly enlarged that he is able to absorb their daintiest morsels within a few hours.

But when the mind has been fed on a feast of wit and a flow of knowledge until it is overflowing, what is better than to go for an hour's drill or three hours' work in the blacksmith shop? Or perchance it may be dairy husbandry or judging sheep. Nothing is so easy as telling why the "A" sheep is good, or "B" is better, and "C" is best. Why a blind man could see that without his "specks."

But, alas! it lies not within my power to do full justice to the simplicities of college life within the bounds of prose:

"For enjoyment and not sorrow
Is our destined end and way,
And to act that each tomorrow
Give more pleasure than today."

TO THE GIRL THE FISH LEFT BEHIND.

Kollege Maation, Texas, 10/3/12.

My dearest little sweepheart:—

I vill try unt wrote you a fewlines and lets you know how I got here. Vell, as you know, I had to drive from home to de rail roads unt when I gets dar I looks up at de bullet board unt they have it posted up dat all de trains was on time Sept. 28/12. Unt I knows right away dat dat wast mine train unt I could not get out of de platz till in de morning so I goes over to inspect de town unt I hear a train coming unt upon questioning a man I find out dat its de train dat would take me to Kollage Maation unt den I had to stay in dat place all night. I arrove here in de morning unt right away someone calls me Fish; as one of de Skadats told de boys my sname, unt mondant, unt one of de old boys told me I haf to see de Bull first, unt he shows me ware de place ist unt I go dar unt day says he ist out unt tell me to sko over to another platz unt at last I fine ware he stays. I goes up to de man unt asks him to show me war de Bull stays unt he tells me. I had to go threw a lot of pens war dey keeps de fancy animals wat we saw at de Stock Shoe in Snorth Foots Wurt unt while I go threw dis place some thing hits me from behind unt the next tin I find meself over de fence unt someone pokes dar head out of de window unt yells: "Say, you darn fool, don't ye know dat Bull bucks?" Day carry me over to de hors pistol unt one of de ladies over dar puts a rag on my leg unt rubs de utter one unt she says, "Ticklish?" unt I say, "No, Yiddish." I was next made acquainted mit de doctor; his sname ist Dr. Alenmajar, unt right away he wants me to drink a cock-tale; now dats wat I call a smart man, as how he ever found out so squickk dat I came from a dry town is got my goat. I next go to de Skommodant unt give up de hunt for de Bull. He asks me what kompany I want to get in unt as some de old boys tells me de Staff unt P kompany wast good kompanies I tells him I want to get in one of them unt he tells me that I wast too late to get into de Staff unt dot dey skant sprounce it. Now, woodnt Dr. Fish at home get highly insulted if he new dat they snamed me after him? The first ting de do ist gift you a piece of spaper unt on dis ist dat you must first go and see the Skom-I was too tall to get into P skompany, so he put me in C skompany. Dis ist a fine place, full up mit good looking buildings wat de State of Texas gives to de boys of his kuntry to get a egermacation. De mess hall ist a place of fine manners, unt we all have to take lessons in how to sprounce de fine name de sosity people call de tings we eat, unt ven I comes home I vill tell you about them and we vill play sosity. We drilled today unt right after dey post up de grades what ve made in it, unt I made 99, unt the highest in de kompany, unt dey told me I must put in my applycation for Skarsporl Ships. Dey appointed me to take up taps receipts at night. Dis morning I vent over to get some Reverly oil but dey done sold it all out, dats de kind of oil dat makes de gun shine unt make a foots ball layer out of de skadats.

Vell I must close unt study up some more on dis sosity eating unt I hope dat all de foks on de farm ist vell unt dat dey all haft got de crops in unt are going hunting now. Ven I kum home Christmas I hope to be Skaptain of dis kompany.

Vit luvé unt kisses to my deer little Schlitzen, I remain your loving,

HANS W. SMUTZ.

COMMANDANT JUNIOR ARRIVES.

Slated for a Cavalryman.

Easter Sunday, March 23, 1913, will always be a memorable day to Lieut. and Mrs. Brown, and the A. and M. College peopple, for on that beautiful and quiet day the peace was disturbed by a wail from the Commandant Junior, announcing his arrival. When the Commandant was interviewed by one of the Freshman Battalion reporters, and was asked if he was a native Texan, he proudly replied: "I am sorry to say that I am not, but I have a son that is Texas born." Although our new Commandant arrived too late to help in the yells for the Legislature, he has been making up for lost time. He is developing so rapidly in that capacity that we feel assured that he will by next fall be a capable cheer leader for the boys.

The A. and M. corps of cadets extend their heartiest congratulations to Lieut. and Mrs. Brown, but we do not fear for his future, as the youngster is rapidly absorbing the lectures on "Cavalry Drill Regulations" from his "Da-Da," and we feel assured that he will be a successful cavalryman.

THE MILITARY STANDING OF A. AND M. COLLEGE.

Annual Inspection and the Freshman.

Every Freshman knows of the excellent reputation A. and M. College has as a military institution and would be unwilling to see the standard as a "distinguished institution" lowered. However, it rests with every cadet, especially the Freshman, whether or not the rating will continue as it has in the past. Pep up at drill so there will be no lack of form when the inspector arrives. Get that ".30-calibre Model 1898 U. S. magazine rifle" with which you are entrusted and shine her up. Rust and dirt are not excusable at inspection. Make use of your gun-slip so that you will know that .30-calibre does not mean your gun shoots "thirty times," as one poor fellow imagined.

Capt. W. T. Murry is the inspecting officer detailed to visit A. and M. College and other military institutions of the South.

A. AND M. PLAYS ST. EDWARD'S COLLEGE

On Friday and Saturday—Everybody Come Out.

On Friday and Saturday the first intercollegiate games will be started. A. and M. is to play St. Edward's College of Austin. This team is composed of a fast little bunch of players and the games are expected to be good ones. Coach Moran has been steadily training the squad, and they are fast rounding into form. He guarantees better games than the ones with Philadelphia, first, because the squad was playing against big leaguers; and, second, because they are in better trim.

Every human get the "pep," and get rid of that spring fever in witnessing a fast game. Manager Lott needs your support and you may help him by getting a season ticket at once.
