JUNIORS IN ATHLETICS.

By the process of weeding which the present class has gone through for three years, only the cream of the class athletes are now represented in our college athletics. These, as one may notice in glancing over the members of the different teams, are indeed few in number. "Daddy" True, "Sot" Cawthon and "Fatty" Persons represent the better men on the football squad. Of these three only one is left, "Sot" Cawthon. The "back to the farm" fever caught "Daddy" and Persons, and consequently they are no more with us. Besides these three men there were Washam, Williams, Reynolds and DeLong. This quartet are with us now and without a doubt they will be wearing the college "T" next year, as they showed exceptionally good form on the squad and in games in which they were used as substitutes.

As we go from the more important form of athletics to the less important, we can see that there is a like decrease in athletic juniors.

Now, baseball, our next important sport, has only eight of our class. It is needless to say that these men are good, because if they were not Coach surely would not have them out on the squad. As it is, only two of the eight belong to the "T" Association, W. J. Skeeler and "Red" Gillespie. In Tom Cherry Coach has a very efficient first baseman, and probably the only one for the place. There is Smitham with the noise in left field; McCollum, utility man, and one that can always be depended upon to deliver a pinch hit; Red Warren, a second baseman of no bad reputation, and L. J. Skeeler, a pitcher with smoke, curves and "pep," but just a bit weak on control. It's not a bad eight for any baseball team.

On the track there are Captain Turner and Guy Hudson. Turner, as everyone knows, is a capable man on the cinder path. His long suit is wind and hence he takes part in the distance races. Hudson, on account of injuries, was not able to enter the Dallas meet. However, he is "at himself" again and surely will be heard from.

Lastly, we have basketball, which is practically a new form of athletics here. One man represents the Juniors, and he is no other than E. N. Peters. Peters played a star game while a sophomore and again this year he showed his ability by consistent and hard playing.

In conclusion, we may say, although the Juniors are in the minority as to numbers, they are there with the goods, and next year they will be our leaders in athletics as well as military.

WHAT IS RETREAT,

From the lack of patriotism which is shown by some of the instructors on the campus it seems as though many of them have no idea what retreat should mean to every American citizen. It is nothing uncommon to see an instructor walking about the campus while the band is playing "The Star Spangled Banner" at retreat. This is not very good advertisement for the school. It is a lack of courtesy and a disrespect to the institution which the party is serving. Many people may be excused from this ceremony, but there is no excuse for a man who is capable of teaching at a place of this kind. If you have no respect for yourself, have some for the Stars and Stripes.

Test of a Girl—If a girl thinks more of her heels than of her head, depend upon it, she will never amount to much; for brains which settle in the shoes never get above them. Young gentlemen will please take note of this.
