BREADTH OF VIEWPOINT.

Probably this student body will never again have as good an opportunity to talk to students from many different schools of the State. Each one of the one hundred and fifty student delegates is a college man and will have his own peculiar viewpoint on college life. He will have experienced many of the same emotions that you and I have. And he will have many little ideas peculiar to his own college. And these ideas, if they could be gathered together, would be an education in themselves.

IMPORTANT.

The greatest opportunity of the convention will be the opportunity afforded for personal interviews with the leaders.

Very often some of the greatest work of a convention is accomplished through these channels. A personal interview with any of the leaders at the coming convention can be arranged by calling at the Y. M. C. A.

ALL ARE WELCOME.

In order that the leaders at the coming convention may reach as many as possible, the sessions will be held in the College Chapel instead of the Y.
M. C. A. building. And we hope that it will become widely known that cadets, campus people and citizens of Bryan are welcome and expected at any and all sessions of the convention.

A COINCIDENCE.

The completion of our building and the convening of the State Convention come as a very welcome coincidence. It will probably be a long time before such a fortunate event again occurs in our association work at this school. Let us make the most of it at this time.

THE A. & M. QUARTET.

Y. M. C. A. WORK WITH COLLEGE STUDENTS

The work among college students as carried on by the Young Men's Christian Associations is said to have tremendously affected the religious life of institutions of the country. Association work among college men is to have a large place in the program for the coming convention of the Texas Young Men's Christian Associations.

Charles D. Hurrey of New York, associated with Dr. John R. Mott, is to lead several of the student discussions at the convention.

The leaders say the development of the work among college men has been remarkable, there being at present in America 772 student associations with a total membership of over 72,000. It is stated that practically every leading institution in America now has its college Young Men's Christian Association. Only a few years ago Dr. Patton of Princeton, one of the leading educators of the nation, made the statement that the "College Young Men's Christian Association practically has a monopoly of the organized Christian work among students." Bible classes, religious meetings, mission study classes, personal work and extension work in the communities where institutions are located are some of the features used most successfully in touching the religious life of multitudes of virile college students.

Many leading athletes are promi-nently identified with the association of their institution. In Texas there are now twenty-four college associations and practically all the leading institutions in the State have organizations. J. L. Hunter, assistant to Mr. Coulter, State secretary of the State committee, gives a large portion of his time to the work among college students. It is expected that at least 150 delegates from college associations will be present at the State convention.

He carried it out of the Mess Hall.
Some noticed it and some didn't.
What was it?
A grease spot on his trousers.
He should worry.
He sends his clothes twice a week to the A. & M. Pressing Club.

CADETS TO BE EX- CUSED FROM DUTIES

DELEGATES EXCUSED FROM ALL DUTIES, BOTH ACADEMIC AND MILITARY.

ALL SHOULD TAKE ADVANTAGE

During the convention session will be one time when the cadets will be free to absent themselves from roll calls. For those cadets who are official delegates will be excused from both academic and military duties at all times to attend the sessions of the convention. All cadets are welcome at any time and will be placing themselves on their honor to attend when absenting themselves from classes.

It is especially emphasized that every session of the convention is open to everybody.
