PLEASES THE CORPS

tion of the methods by which they were performed. Silver coins, eggs, cards, cabbages, ducks, guinea pigs, miscellaneous garments, and tape were produced in profusion from unexpected and mysterious sources.

On one occasion he departed from that which is expected of a magician to give a portion of his philosophy of life, and later he paused to give some startling facts concerning the results from the use of alcohol, as shown by science.

He succeeded in intensifying the humor of many of his tricks by perpetrating them on persons in the audience. "Gudgeon" Saper and "Redwing" Palmer were the victims in his closing trick. He succeeded in enticing them on the stage and there had them take part in a watch trick and a card trick. Tho plainly embarrassed, each of them kept his self-possession and contributed no little to the humor of the occasion now and then. Saper even succeeded in getting off a joke at the magician's expense during the performance.

The number was certainly the cause of more incessant laughter than any we have had this season.

NORTH TEXAS CLUB BANQUET.

The North Texas Club experienced its first banquet last Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. building. It is putting it mildly to say that the banquet was a great success; in fact, many of the members express it as being the best banquet of the kind they had ever attended. After the good things were properly cared for, C. H. Savage did credit to himself as toastmaster. Several things of real interest to the college students were touched on by the speakers of the evening.

This is just the beginning of a strong North Texas Club, and every fellow who is eligible should get in this club and help boost A. & M. College in his section of the State.

his line. He is a graduate of Texas A. and M. College, where he received his B. S. degree in horticulture in June, 1914.

Commissioner Davis has not yet announced his appointment for the position of assistant entomologist, but stated that the selection would be made from among this year's graduates of A. and M.

Dean Kyle is proud of Mr. Ayers and the rapid progress he is making, and says that the demand for A. and M. graduates in agriculture is great. Only last week he had the pleasure of making the following recommendations:

Application was received from Byron Leaird, Gatesville, Texas, for an experienced man to develop 60 acres of Leon River land into a truck farm. Mr. E. H. Leudtke, Goldthwaite, Texas, was recommended for this position.

Application was received from Rev. I. F. Betts, Jacksonville, Texas, for a reliable man to manage a farm at Newby, Texas. Mr. J. C. McDowell of Trinity, Texas, was recommended for this position.

PROF. COGHAN TELLS OF INTERESTING TRIP TO SOUTH TEXAS.

I left College January 9th and went to Del Rio, where I spent three days inspecting the roads in Val Verde County for the purpose of advising the county court regarding the cost of improving same. In line with this work we traveled over 300 miles by machine over the roads, and owing to the fact that the water in the Devils River was high, we spent one night in the open, with but one blanket for a cover, and had it not been for a good fire that we kept burning, things would have been pretty chilly around the edges before morning. The next day we ran the car into some thirty inches of water and were forced to wade out and then hunt for a neighbor to get his teams and rescue our car.

In spite of these handicaps we made good progress with the work, and incidentally had the opportunity to eat all the quail we wanted, not to mention a splendid dinner where the main attraction was a brace of mallards.

From Del Rio I went to Shiner, where the community has awakened to the fact that good roads are a prime necessity. The roads were surely in bad shape, but those people do not intend to stay in the mud, for at a mass meeting attended by every voter in the district that could get into it, a motion was unanimously past requesting the Commissioner's Court of Lavaca County to call an election in the Shiner district for a bond issue of $250,000 for road purposes.

Mission was the next town on my itinerary, and at that place the people expect to build some twelve miles of good stone macadam roads at a cost of about $60,000. The soil in this part of Texas is good for earth roads and excellent results can be secured by the use of the road drag.

After leaving Mission I made short stops at Bourne, Kenedy, Southerland Springs, LaVernier and Karnes City. I did not finish my work near Kennedy, and expect to go there again the coming week for a few days to inspect their roads and to make several addresses at road meetings in and near that city.

T. C. U. FAVORABLY IMPREST.

The following extract is taken from the report of the T. C. U. delegates to the "Y" Convention, which report was published in the Skiff:

Do you know what "A. and M. College" is, or do you only think you do? If you have never been there, it is very probable that you only think you do.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas consists of 25 buildings placed in an irregular but picturesque cluster about a 26th building, which is in itself one of the finest and costliest structures of its kind in the South. About nine of these buildings are dormitories, and in them "bunk" about one thousand of the best-hearted and liveliest bunch of "cadets" you ever saw! There were delegates there from Young Men's Christian Associations all over the State. And every one express their great satisfaction and gratitude in the whole-hearted, generous manner in which the "A. and M." students cared for the visitors.
