W. C. BOYETT, THE CAMPUS GROCER

FISH MASON.

The financial side of this "Bat" was no small item. Fish Mason started to work immediately after his election as business manager. He wrote about 175 letters to business men all over the United States, asking them for ads. He went to Bryan repeatedly and begged and pleaded with the Bryan merchants for ads.

Each member of the class was assessed 50c. But this was hard to collect; but Mason was tireless in his efforts. He kept after the Bryan merchants and he kept his collectors busy in the dormitories. His letters brought very poor results. The big business houses would not advertise. "Times too hard."

Mason picked two able assistants, and after days of hard and arduous work, they have successfully steered this "Bat" through the straits of finance. They are to be highly commended for their tireless efforts and their success in such a year as this. Advertisers are curtailing their advertisements throughout the State. And what ads were given were worked hard for. Mason has succeeded, which is saying a great deal for a manager this year.

FOR SALE—A baseball glove in good condition. Apply to 64 Mitchell.

"SKY" BOETTCHER.

"All right! who's hungry! Crispettes? How many, please? All right! Who's the next one? Get your crispettes right here! It's a long way to Tipperary, but you don't have to go far for crispettes. Herseys! Cigars! Chewing gum! Who's hungry? Crispettes like your mother used to make! They will neither tear, tarnish nor wear, and only two more left, boys. What wants the last ones? The ball game is bum, but these crispettes are mighty fine. Only seven more left! The more you eat the more you want. Get your crispettes right now! Strictly an educational affair, boys—recommended by the Governor. Who's hungry?"

This is the "lingo" we hear every day from "Sky" Boettcher, the living wonder, the best salesman in Texas. "Sky" was very successful with Mason in getting ads for the "Bat." "Sky" is assistant business manager of the "Bat," and he has certainly done his part. He should receive some credit for the financial success of the Battalion. Though Fish "Sky" is one of the busiest cadets on the campus he has time to help the "Fish Bat" immensely. For that, we thank him.

FOUND—Sergeant Kenny has in his possession an intercollegiate track medal which was found on the campus. The owner will apply to him.

Town Fish (in A. H. 1)—"Mr. Bell, must we place these steers as dairy cows or as beef cattle?"
