

A. & M. HAS NO FIGHT TO MAKE ON OTHER TEXAS INSTITUTIONS.

of Industrial Arts in Denton County, and of Prairie View School for Negroes in Waller County. It means that no one school can absorb another one. There is no doubt in my mind that the development of the A. and M. College has been checked more greatly by talk of consolidation than by any other one force. All of these schools have different spheres of activity, and they should be constituted separately and under different boards of management.

"The resolution provides for the definition of the spheres of activity of each. It insures adequate maintenance for all of these institutions. It is my opinion that many University alumni and friends will support the amendment. Personally, I cannot see why they should not support it. The thing that has hurt the University most has been the constitutional inhibition against legislative appropriations for permanent improvements. Had the Legislature been permitted under the constitution to appropriate funds for buildings, shacks, the source of regret and shame to all true Texans never would have been constructed on the University campus. While this resolution was submitted to the Legislature by a close friend and ardent admirer of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, he nevertheless felt the injustice of this inhibition and the resolution as proposed by him provided for the removal of this inhibition.

"All in all, there is so much to be said in favor of the resolution and so little against it, that I can see no reason why any true friend of the cause of education in Texas will oppose it. I am mindful of the fact, however, that most voters are prejudiced against all constitutional amendments, and I admonish the students of A. and M. when they return to their homes at the close of school to advocate the adoption of this amendment.

"Remember at all times that we are not fighting any institution, but that we are fighting for all institutions of learning. A vote for resolution No. 34 is a vote for the betterment of all our schools and an act of patriotism."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

The editor of the Junior issue of the Battalion wishes to make an explanatory statement concerning the article headed "Cheapside Inn" appearing in that issue of the paper.

The article as received was without signature, and without taking note of the hurtful personalities it contained or first tendering it to the Committee on Student Publications for censorship, I submitted it to the printer.

The editor regrets that material of such nature was permitted to enter the columns of the Battalion and further wishes to state that the article was not published with the idea of aiming insinuating ridicule at the parties concerned.

Signed L. V. WITCHER.

Mr. Coer's Sunday School Class Entertains.

Saturday the pasture at Hill Crest was the scene of another merry party, when Mr. Coer's Sunday School class entertained the young ladies of College and Bryan.

Many games were enjoyed and the spread could not have been better.

Everybody went to Bryan, where an exceptionally good motion picture was enjoyed.

Things broke up just in time for all to catch the 11 o'clock car, and each regretted that the time to leave had come.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. John Mitchell of College

REPAIRS IMPROVE THE LOOKS OF OLD CHAPEL.

The old chapel will look like a new building when the 800 new opera chairs, which have been ordered for seating this building are installed. The inside of the chapel has been painted white with dull gray trimming, the walls have been replastered where necessary and new lighting fixtures have been installed. In the event the Legislature grants the new chapel building the present structure will have to be used for at least two more years.

Handsome opera chairs have been shipped and these should be installed by commencement.

It does not seem possible that such great improvement could have been made in the old building.
