

A. AND M.—KANSAS AGGIES IN RIFLE COMPETITION

On last Wednesday afternoon, in spite of the threatening weather, a team of twelve men engaged in a rifle shooting competition with a team of the Kansas State Agricultural College. The A. and M. team shot on our local range, and the Kansas Aggies shot on their range, but up to the present, reports have not been received from the Aggies.

The scores of the high six men on each team counted, and are given below for the A. and M. team. First column of figures for rapid fire, 200 yards; second for slow fire, 300 yards; third for slow fire 500 yards:

Easley, C. M.....	47	49	44	140
Bell, J. E.....	47	48	42	139
Rutan, W. L.....	46	49	43	138
Dunning, W. R....	45	49	42	136
Scott, W. R.....	44	46	43	133
Rack, E. C.....	40	48	41	129

Team grand total.....815
Rack and Clayton tied for sixth place on the team, but the decision was given to Rack, as the rules give the tie to the man making the highest aggregate score on the longest range.

This score was very good for the team, considering the weather conditions, and beat last year's team by 72 points, falling below the United States Intercollegiate record of last year by only 12 points.

Other men shooting, but who failed to place, were Clayton, Allen, Washam, Clarkson, Zedler, and Faber. Considerable interest has been taken in target practice this year, and with the aid of the indoor range, which will no doubt be installed this summer, great things are expected of the college team next year.

Jimson—He lent me an umbrella.—Boston Globe.

THE WISDOM OF UNCLE WILLIAM

In Skaneateles there lives an old chap known as Uncle William. Uncle William is so famed for his wisdom that whenever anything extraordinary happens the townsfolk always ask: “What does Uncle William say?”

Once a man became ill there and had to go West. Word came back to Skaneateles about the end of the winter that he had reached the point of death. Everybody naturally asked: “What does Uncle William say?”

“He'll live till June,” said Uncle William, oracularly.

“Why do you think so?” everybody asked.

“Well,” said Uncle William, still more sagely, “he always has.”—New York Times.

DALLAS MAKES GIFT TO CORPS.

Golf playing at A. & M. received a great impetus when thru Colonel Sterrett of the Dallas News, the Dallas Golf Club sent about one hundred and fifty sticks down here for the cadets to use. Now almost every afternoon the links west of Kyle Field are dotted with enthusiastic players. The Dallas Golf Club deserves the thanks of the whole cadet corps for its kindness.
