TEXAS A. & M. 13 TEXAS UNIVERSITY 0

the greatest exhibition of punting ever seen on a Texas gridiron. It was this same Collins, called yellow by the Longhorn supporters, who crashed through the supposedly invincible Texas line for the only touchdown of the game. The game played by him Friday was a tribute to his nerve and ability. He fought hard and he fought well, and it was due to his superior punting that the ball was kept largely in Texas territory.

Fannie Coleman has always had the reputation of being the best drop kicker in the state. Friday he lived up to his reputation by kicking two of the prettiest dropkicks ever seen on a Texas gridiron. His first boot was from the 45 yard line and it sailed squarely between the goal posts. These were the first points made by A. & M. against Varsity since 1910 and they put the real fight into the Aggie eleven.

Captain Garrity was the very life of his team. He would analyze the plays and break them up before the fast Varsity backs could get started. Johnnie played the entire game with a sprained ankle and two broken ribs. He would go down under the punts and would seldom fail to down the man in his tracks.

On the right end was big Jim Kendrick. His tackling was wonderful. He smashed interference when it came his way and no long end runs were successful that had to pass him. He often threw the Varsity backs for losses for if he ever got his tenacious grip on a Longhorn he never let go.

Our two tackles Crow and Settegast were towers of strength to the Farmer's line. No gains were made through either of them and when it was necessary they would open great holes in the Varsity line.

It was due to the fierce tackling of Nick Braumiller that so many fumbles were made by the Longhorns. Nick was a real star and should not be overlooked in singing the praises of the Aggie team. It was this big Dutchman who recovered one of Varsity's fumbles and raced 35 yards to the Longhorns 10 yard line before being downed. It was this same player who helped open the hole in Varsity's line and permitted Collins to go through for the only touchdown of the game.

Rogers and Eschenburg formed a combination in the line that was almost impossible to penetrate. They would often break through the line and throw the runners for a loss.

Burns played his best game of the season. Too much credit cannot be given him for the way he ran the team throughout the game. He was sure in receiving punts and always made a good return. On the defense, he tackled hard and low and no man was able to pass him.

Rollins started the game but was injured and had to be removed. While in the game, he played sensational ball and if he had not been injured a larger score might have been made.

Gilfillian played great ball while he was in the game. He repeatedly broke up passes and downed men a loss, but his crippled ankle forced him out of the game.

Mitchell took Gilfillian's place at halfback in the first quarter. Although it was his first football game, except for a few minutes in the Rice game. Mitch showed himself to be a cool headed player, and he played like a veteran throughout the game. Breaking up end runs and forward passes were his specialties.

For once the Longhorns were unable to gain on end runs. Their famous Minnesota shift was a good ground gainer at first but at the last the Farmers would break up the plays before they could get started. Their famous aerial attack also failed for the Farmers had been coached to break up such plays. The Longhorns played hard but their offensive open attacks were not equal to the brilliant defensive playing displayed by the farmers.

During the game the Longhorns made nine first downs and the aggies made four. The farmers relied on their defensive work and the toe of Collins more than their offensive. Littlefield was forced to hurry his passes which made them inaccurate and only three out of twenty three were successful.

The entire state team played good ball with Duncan, Littlefield, Dittmar and Goodman starring. P. Simmons, the main ground gainer, was unable to do anything with the Farmer's line. He attempted one of his famous dives but was caught in the act and for the remainder of the game he kept his feet on the ground.

The Longhorns were inside the Farmer's 20 yard line once. It was in the last quarter when Kelso ran back a punt; although they were in striking distance they could not furnish the punch and the ball went over, Collins punted and the game ended with the ball in mid-field in the aggies possession. The Farmers had won a victory which was the greatest in the Southwest and it was through the hard constant work of the best coaching staff in the South, Harlan, Graves and Driver, and the unconquerably fighting spirit of the team led by Johnnie Garrity.

FIRST PERIOD.

Burns kicked off for A. & M. to Turner on the Texas' 15-yard line. Turner returned 15 yards; Walker hit tackle for eight yards and repeated with a gain of one. The first fumble, the forerunner of those which spell defeat for the Longhorns, came when Littlefield attempted to circle his right end and fumbled, the alert Captain Garrity recovering for A. & M. on the Texas 35-yard line.

Rollins failed around right end; Coleman brushed tackle for two yards; Birge broke through and threw Rollins for a loss of four yards. Coleman dropped back to the 45 line and attempted a drop kick, which fell short.

On the first play Garrity spilled Williams, but Walker bucked for six yards in two downs and Turner bored his way for eight yards and first down on the Texas 36-yard line. Walker bucked for one yard and the ball went over when Littlefield fumbled, Coleman recovering.

Rollins wiggled three yards in two downs and then attempted a forward pass to Kendrick, failing. Coleman started the A. & M. victory on the next play when he dropped a perfect goal over the bar from the 43-yard line. Score—A. & M. 3, Texas 0.

Collins kicked off to Williams on the Texas 17-yard line. Williams returned 13 yards. Time out for Rollins, who was replaced by Gilfillian. With perfect interference Littlefield circled
