

MISS NEALE AND STAFF
SERVE MEALS TO SICK.

Have Worked Faithfully Throughout
Epidemic At A. & M. College.

The "flu" epidemic at College has brought about one innovation heretofore unheard of in the annals of A. & M. administration. The passersby on the Campus in the past week were very much surprised one day to see overseas canteen work apparently going on in our very midst. On inquiring, the interested were enlightened as to the wherefore of the unusual sight.

On Tuesday of last week, the number of ill in the dormitories became so increased that Dr. Bizzell asked Miss Neale of the Extension department to take charge of the situation as regards serving the sick men with meals. Miss Neale called together her staff and plans were immediately formulated and committees appointed. For ten days, meals have been thus served by and under the direction of these committees. Even the severe rains of last Monday morning did not discourage these workers, and dinner was served at the usual hour.

With the cooperation of Mr. Sbis and his staff, much depleted by illness, the committees have been able to furnish more or less of the regulation sick diet for all men confined to barracks.

Those cadets and soldiers well enough have cooperated splendidly in serving their less fortunate brothers. The company lieutenants have attended faithfully to do their part in seeing that their men were well taken care of.

To the women, especially who have spent many hours each day at kitchen drudgery to do their "bit" to help the situation, too much credit can not be given.

Those in charge of the work are Miss Neale, chairman, Miss Manning, Miss Alderson and Miss Wipprecht in Mess hall, Miss Spence and Miss Roquemore at Station No. 1, Miss Berry, Miss Wipprecht, and Miss Merwin at Station No. 2, and Miss Higgins and Miss Henley at Station No. 3, where the soldiers have been served. In addition, many campus women and other young women working for the college have helped most willingly, and most heartily.

Personally we hope that out of the wreck of empires and the crush of worlds will come some new force capable of making the fashions more favorable to fat folks.

What has become of the old-fashioned nobob who invited his friends to a beefsteak dinner.

If it is the truth that makes men free, no wonder the Huns are vassals.
